Counter Attacks Launched on All Of Major Fronts

Germans Throw All They Have at Advancing Red Forces

Moscow Asserts Army of 60,000 Nazis Is Slowly
Perishing

MOSCOW, March 19 (AP)—The Nazis are counter-attacking on virtually every front in desperately late efforts to rescue trapped armies and stem the Russian advance, the Red army reported today.

The fiercest fighting of all raged in an unidentified sector of the eastern front, the army newspaper Red Star said.

Trying to relieve several units in a grave predicament, the Germans threw in every weapon of war, they were repulsed and lost another element, Red Star related, and said that the Russian advance was continuing.

The story was similar on the east front, where Red Star reported the Russians encircled a German garrison in an important area after several days of battle in a blinding blizzard. A dispatch from that front said that the Germans were trying to furnish the trapped unit with munitions and food by plane.

Nazi Army Perishing
In the Staraya Russa sector of the north central front, the official Russian government paper, Pravda, said Hitler's "starving, half-dead, lice-covered Sixteenth army, 600,000 strong, is perishing."

Reserves "gathered with difficulty to his so-called spring offensive," he sent instead to aid this army but themselves encircled with one they are sent to relieve," Izvestia said.

German Division Crippled
For example, it said, the Two-nd and twenty-fifth German infantry divisions, which arrived in France about the end of January, has lost forty-five per cent of its strength, and the Fifth Jaeger division, which arrived in February, has lost more than fifty per cent.

German prisoners arriving from various sectors were quoted on the page of Hitler's consumption of his armies.

One of these, Johann Konrad, died Feb. 22 near Rostov, said a unit was brought from the Atlantic port of Le Havre.

Franz von Papen Leaves Ankara

ANKARA, TURKEY, March 19 (AP)— German Ambassador Franz von Papen departed tonight, in defiance of Turkish orders, to report to Adolf Hitler's Eastern front headquarters.
He appeared to be in poor health and was wearing mufflers over his ears.

While under a physician's care he was reported to be suffering from trouble as a result of a bomb blast near him recently in an Ankara boulevard.

He was expected to return to Berlin before the end of the month to attend the opening concert here of the Berlin Philharmonic orchestra.

Britain Threatens Daily Mirror With Suspension for War Attitude

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, March 19.—The British government threatened today to suspend the Daily Mirror, popular London tabloid, for publication of what a cabinet minister described as "scandalous misrepresen-tations, distorted and exaggerated statements and impossible generalizations" harmful to the war effort.

Gasoline Cards To Be Issued as Soon as Printed

Rationing Expected To Get under Way within Six Weeks

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP)— Gasoline rationing by a rigid coupon system will be instituted in the east and Pacific northwest as soon as the millions of cards can be printed, probably six weeks hence, Petroleum Coordinator Ickes announced today.

Emphasizing the seriousness of the fuel emergency, the coordinator told his press conference that the supply situation in New England, both with regard to petroleum and coal, had become so critical that parts of the area, particularly in Massachusetts and Maine, already were planning "to rely on wood" for heating next winter.

Station Supplies Limited
Plans for rationing as a war measure were announced on the day that motor fuel consumption was cut by twenty percent in the east and northwest by a limitation of supplies delivered to filling stations.

Ickes declined to predict the extent to which the ordinary motorists' gasoline allowance might be cut for a given period under the card system, but said all motorists would be classified according to their actual needs.

"We will go on a card rationing system as soon as Leon Henderson (the price administrator) can get around to it," Ickes told newsmen, and he expressed hope that this would be within a short time, in view of the increasing urgency of the supply conditions caused by the submarine sinkings and war diversion of ship tankers which normally serve the coastal areas.

Up to the Operators
The coordinator expressed doubt that gasoline could be distributed equitably under the system that became effective today. The supply limitation program places on the individual station operators the responsibility for fair apportionment of the available motor fuel among their customers through limiting each purchaser to a few gallons.

No immediate prospect of rationing in other areas was foreseen by the coordinator, but he told the newsmen "there is something to be said for rationing on a nation-wide basis to conserve rubber."

Rockwell in Melbourne; Line on Size of Army in Philippines Given

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP)—
The navy announced today that Rear Admiral Francis W. Rockwell, naval commandant in the Philippine Islands had arrived in Australia with General Douglas MacArthur and was now in Melbourne.

The announcement was made in a communiqué which also disclosed that naval and marine corps forces in the Philippines "number only about one-third of the regular U. S.
army troops in that area."

It had previously reported that a battalion of marines and bluejackets had been formed to fight with Mac-Arthur's men but this was the first disclosure of their proportionate size, although in keeping with secrecy as to the actual number of the defenders no figure as to the total strength of the bluejackets and marines was given.

Woman Confesses Murder of Girl In Trunk Mystery

Mrs. Minnie Griffin Describes Slaying of Mildred Williams

ATLANTA, March 19 (AP)—A 46-year-old housewife tonight sobbed out a confession to the slaying of a pretty, young shoemaker's daughter to end the mystery of Atlanta's two-day old trunk murder.

Detective Superintendent J. A.
McKibben said Mrs. Minnie Lee Griffin admitted the slaying of Mrs. Mildred Seymour Williams, 22, whose battered and trussed body was found late yesterday in an old automobile trunk in the basement of the Griffin home.

The middle-aged woman, left alone in her cell throughout the day, signed a confession to the gruesome crime, McKibben said, shortly after he started questioning her tonight.

Detective McKibben said Mrs.
Griffin related that Mrs. Williams came to her home about four months ago and told her she was sorry "about the misunderstanding about her going with Kenneth Hubert, my son in law."

McKibben further quoted her statement as saying:
"I asked her if she really had been going with him and that if she had she was breaking up my daughter's home."

"She jumped up telling me that it was none of my business if she was going with him and that if I ever mentioned that to her again she would brain me."

"I grabbed the broom and hit her over the head. In a few minutes she got up and ran through the bedroom to the basement. She told me to follow her into the basement."

"I followed her into the basement and picked up a heavy object and hit her on the head several times."

McKibben said Mrs. Griffin then said that she "lost her mind" and did not remember how many times she hit Mrs. Williams, a neighbor.
She then related, the detective said, how she placed the body in an old trunk, and covered it with her (Mrs. Williams') coat, and ashes.

Shipyard Strike Declared at End

RICHMOND, Calif., March 19 (AP)— Employer and union representatives agreed tonight that most of the 1,000 workers who walked off their jobs at two Richmond shipyards last night were returning to work and production was proceeding normally.

The two yards—Todd-California and Richmond—were the first Bay area shipbuilding plants to establish a seven-day non-stop week which, by rotating shifts, eliminates overtime for Saturday and Sunday workers.

Rumors, which proved unfounded, of a ten-hour day at other shipyards with double pay for the two extra hours were cited by company officials as responsible for the men quitting work. Tom Evans, company publicity director, said the men also protested against the seven-day continuous operation plan.

British Retreat To New Position South of Prome

Imperial Forces Abandon Tharrawaddy for Strategic Reasons

Japanese Forces Also Moving Up on Eastern Branch

BY DANIEL DE DUCE
WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN CENTRAL BURMA, March 19 (AP)—
The decisive battle for central Burma appeared definitely imminent today in the Irrawaddy valley—Burma's spinal column—as Japanese troops moved northward by motor transport, boat and mule-train toward the British defenses in the Prome sector sheltering the Ye-nang-Yuang oil fields.

The fight will be for the Prome road, asphalted western branch of the old Burma Road running along the Broad Irrawaddy to the rich central Burma oil fields, thence to Mandalay. Japanese forces also are moving up the eastern branch, or Toungoo Road, and there has been preliminary fighting in the Kanyuikwin sector of this eastern road to Mandalay, some 100 miles north of Rangoon.

(In this area a communique from Madras said Thursday, the British withdrawal toward Toungoo proceeded after Japanese flank attacks had been beaten off. The communique also said twenty-five enemy planes were believed destroyed by the American volunteer group's air raids Wednesday on the Moulmein airdrome.)

British Driven Back

As Japanese shock troops mopped up the conquered Burma delta and drew upon the native population for armed recruits, battle-worn British Imperial troops set up new defensive positions well south of Prome. (A London spokesman said this involved the abandonment of Tharrawaddy, sixty miles above Rangoon on the Prome road.)

There are no natural obstacles of terrain on this route to favor the defenders, who have been fighting against odds of two and three to one for months.

Quicksand and almost dry washes, which with the mid-May monsoon will be hidden deep in flood waters, now can be crossed without bridges,
by tanks whether British or Japanese.

Prome, the immediate objective of the Japanese is a quaint, dusty and smelly river port. No water in the area is safe to drink unboiled or unchlorinated.

The rolling brown fields of the Yenang-Yuang oil fields lie 140 miles up-river from Prome—actually 180 miles by the highway which makes a big bend eastward. Prome itself is 150 miles on a straight line from Rangoon.

The outcome of the new battle of Burma, most observers are now convinced, depends in large measure on the veteran Chinese troops whom Chiang Kai-Shek dispatched here with the order: "No withdrawal until the enemy is crushed."

Chinese Join British

Co-ordination of these Chinese forces with the British army now is being effected.

Since early January, the Chinese have been spread throughout the southern Shan states which border on northwestern Thailand and a small strip of Western Indo-China. Rethe present contract, April 28, there probably would be no interruption of work but that whatever agree-

Hitler Recalls Ousted Generals; Plans Offensive

Fuehrer Finds Out He Is Not Capable of Running War Alone

BY THOMAS F. HAWKINS
BERN, SWITZERLAND, March 19 (AP)—Confronted by a critical new situation in Russia and threatened with the possibility of an Allied second front against Germany, Adolf Hitler has abandoned his "intuition" and called back nearly all the high-ranking generals he dismissed during the winter. German dispatches indicated today.

The Fuehrer apparently has become convinced now that he cannot direct his war alone, as he tried to do in December, when he personally supplanted Field Marshal Walther von Brauchitsch as commander-in-chief.

Plan Gigantic Offensive

Von Brauchitsch, officially still conscientious, and other keen military men who quit or were fired when the German army's march on Moscow collapsed early last winter now have been called back to Bern to map a gigantic offensive expected to be launched soon on the Russian front, said a Berlin dispatch to the Swiss newspaper Basel National Zeitung.

Others named are Field Marshals
Karl Rudolf Gerd von Bunsdorf and Fedor von Bock, both among those who left their commands in disorder. Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, who remained in command in Africa throughout the winter campaign, also was reported called to Berlin to take part in the planning parleys.

The generals' first job is to turn the tide of the desperate fighting on the Russian front—to lay down a superlative strategy of "new and surprising methods," as one paper put it—by which the German defense and counterattack tactics can be turned into the big spring offensive which Hitler seeks.

Map Summer Campaign

The second job is to work out a broader detailed plan for the spring and summer, which, if the Russian fighting permits, the Nazi army is expected to apply in Africa and throughout the Mediterranean area.

Tire Rationing Cuts Auto Traffic

BALTIMORE, March 19 (AP)—Tire rationing and an organized program were credited today by officials of major defense plants in this area for an increase in the number of passengers carried per car to the defense plants.

Despite the increased "doubling up" in defense workers' cars, traffic on access roads to the war factories continued its upswing, figures compiled by the highway planning division of the State Roads Commission showed.

This increase in access road traffic was in contrast to the February and March declines noted by traffic surveyors on all other state highways.

Make a Recording of Star Spangled Banner

NEW YORK, March 19 (AP)— Arturo Toscanini and 100 members of the NBC symphony orchestra made a recording today of the Star Spangled Banner.

Proceeds from sale of the record, which Toscanini led in observance of his seventy-fifth birthday March 25, will go to the Red Cross.

ALL MEN 45 TO 64 REGISTER APRIL 27

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP)—The government today ordered the oldest group of men under the selective service law — 45 to 64 inclusive — to register on April 27, for possible non-combatant service in the future.

The new registration date proclaimed by President Roosevelt will leave only one group not yet recorded, those of 18 and 19 years.
Estimates of the total registration for the 45-64 age group range around 15,000,000.

May Be Given War Work

While none of these comparative oldsters will be taken into the fighting forces, there is the possibility that some or many of them will be assigned eventually to essential war work. Brig. General Lewis B.
Hershey has said that one purpose of the draft law was an "accurate and systematic appraisal" of the supply of man power.

Testifying before a House committee last month, Hershey asserted that "We must have much control over placements of men than we now have to meet the war manpower problem." It was noted, however, that there is no existing law to compel a work-or-fight policy.

Second War-Time Registration

The April 27 registration will be the second since the United States entered the war. The first registration of the 20 to 44 group on February 16 and the lottery for that group held last Tuesday. Estimates before the Feb. 16 registration were that about 9,000,000 were in that age bracket.

The first draft registration since the World War was held on October 16, 1940 when about 17,000,000 men from 21 to 35, inclusive, registered.
The second registration, of those who had become 21 since the first draft, was held last July and totaled about 750,000.

Like the previous drafts, exceptions are made for those already in the armed forces.

Wainwright Promoted

Meantime, the Senate cast aside usual routine to approve swiftly and unanimously President Roosevelt's nomination of Major General John M. Wainwright to be a lieutenant general in command of American-Philippine forces on Bataan peninsula in the Philippines.

Wainwright was promoted in view of the transfer of General Douglas MacArthur to Australia.

The navy disclosed today that MacArthur was accompanied on his voyage by his wife and daughter.

Germans at Head Of Army Marching On Port Moresby

Hope To Reach Springboard for Attack on Australia

Australians Confident
They Can Stop Enemy Short of Their Goal

BY VERN HAUGLAND
MELBOURNE, March 19 (AP)— Guided by Nazi German missionaries, a strong Japanese force was reported tonight to be advancing overland in New Guinea toward Port Moresby, enemy - coveted springboard for invasion of the Australian mainland, while over the continent's whole defense periphery the combined U. S.-Australian air force and Japanese bombers were furiously engaged.

The Japanese troops, thus supported by the first recorded instance of German Fifth column work in the Australian theater, appeared to be advancing westward from Lae, their beachhead on northeastern New Guinea island due north of Port Moresby and separated from it by a mountain range. The objective of the drive was to gain the central plateau, then turn south toward Port Moresby, which lies just across Torres strait from the mainland.

Hope To Seize Airports
The enemy's immediate aim, dispatches from Port Moresby, was to take the Markham valley with its system of first-rate airports.

The missionaries were said to have come from pro-Nazi centers in Finschhafen and Alexishafen—both towns incidentally are in the area of the enemy's initial landings on New Guinea—and to have equipped themselves with a radio transmitter—small factory for producing arms and swastika arm bands. They maintained good airdromes.

In recent raids on the missions, the authorities smashed one radio transmitter. They found hundreds of swastika flags and photographs of Adolf Hitler.

So far as could be learned, the invading force was in considerable numbers but the Australian defenders expressed the conviction that the thrust would be broken well short of Port Moresby.

Allied air attacks were reported during the day on several enemy-held island points, among them Koropang on Timor, where the resulting fires were visible fifty miles away, but there was no word of any new gathering of Japanese ships.

The enemy's invasion trains already had been hard hit, the latest big Allied success have been a

Germany Reduces Civilian Ration Of Bread, Meals

But People Told There Will Be More Available from Russia

BERLIN. (From German Broadcasts) March 19 (P)—The German government cut the normal civilian ration of bread, fats and meat today and pinned its promise of return to fatter days on retention of "food space" in the east (Russia) and increased production elsewhere in Europe.

The new rationing system, effective on April 6, will cut the bread allowance of the "normal consumer" from five pounds a week to four pounds, six ounces; fats from nine and one-half ounces to seven and one-quarter ounces, and meat from fourteen to ten and one-half ounces.

Breakdown of Consumers
"Competent quarters" hastened to explain in the broadcast announcement that only forty per cent of the German population are "normal consumers." The remaining sixty per cent, it was said, include children, members of the armed forces and self-supporting workers.

Children between six and 18 had their meat rations shortened "only" by one and three-quarters ounces. It was said, and the worker at hard labor will still get nearly a pound of meat a week as the minimum allowance or one pound, twelve ounces as the maximum.

(By way of comparison, Britain still has no bread rationing although white bread is no more. The basic British ration of meat, held to a cost rather than a weight basis, is about twenty-three cents a week while the allowance in fats is eight ounces, of which not more than two ounces can be butter.)

German Explanation
The German radio, in a lengthy broadcast of the food situation that required tighter rationing, attributed the action to the increased number of heavy workers in war industries, longer working hours, the incorporation of a million German Nationals from other countries, the requirements of foreign workmen and millions of war prisoners.

"In addition, the Reich supplied Allied states and occupied regions with considerable quantities of foodstuffs," the explanation ran.

"The new rationing became necessary to safeguard the nation's food for a long time to come, since the harvests of 1940 and 1941 have been of average size, only as a result of unfavorable weather."

cently they repulsed Thai patrol parties into the southern Shan states where the enemy undertook to discourage the Chinese command from dispersing its forces south and west to help their British Allies.

Today, the Adras radio communication said, patrols on the Chinese front contacted a party of Thai troops led by Japanese officers fifty miles east of Tongoo and inflicted some casualties.

Meanwhile an Indian refugee migration which may involve 750,000 men, women and children is choking the two roads westward out of Burma and starvation and thirst is decimating the poverty-stricken marchers. The suffering is on a scale that can hardly be imagined.

The two routes of this giant, fear-impelled exodus are via Mandalay westward along the river to a point where the government of India takes responsibility for the refugees, and via Prome directly to Tangup on the coast, where India provides boats to carry the unfortunates to their homeland.

The military has tried to limit the number of refugees on the road to about 500 daily.

Order Blackout Of Maryland Coast

BALTIMORE, March 19 (P)—Maryland's defense council late today ordered a complete blackout of the state's coastline, effective tonight.

Lieut. Col. Henry S. Barrett, chief ARP warden, said the move was designed to prevent the silhouetting of ships at sea against shore lights. It followed requests of army officials that steps be taken to help curtail ship sinkings along the coast.

Colonel Barrett said this includes complete blacking out of Ocean City until measures are taken to prevent light reflections on the ocean in that area.

Sergeant Laurel Hands Out Smokes

LAKE CHARLES, La., March 19 (P)—Upon learning that Laurel and Hardy of the movies comedy team had been appointed first sergeants in the air corps, Sergeant Nelson G. Cockrum of the air corps advanced flying school wrote them of the old tradition of passing out "the smokes" when a rating is made.

First Sergeant Laurel, to conform with tradition, mailed sergeant Cockrum two boxes of cigars — apologized for overlooking the custom — and told him to pass them around to the gang. Cockrum complied.

The cigars were loaded.

MacArthur's Escape from Japs One of Greatest War Adventures

LONDON, Friday, March 20 (P)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's escape by speedboat and plane from the Philippines to take supreme command in Australia "will make any story of the war hitherto written look pale by comparison," the London News-Chronicle's correspondent with the United States troops reported today.

The correspondent said the general, accompanied by his wife, four-year-old son, and staff members, dashed through the Japanese blockade around Bataan peninsula by speed boat, then flew across a sea of islands patrolled by enemy planes and dotted with warships for more than 2,000 miles.

Board Fast Boats
Gen. MacArthur and his party, the dispatch said, assembled on Bataan's dark beach the night of March 11, and cautiously boarded fast motor torpedo boats.

"These small craft slipped silently tion in quite another. Such ipseidous attacks are not to be excused by calls in another part of the paper for more vigorous action."

Statement from Editor
H. G. Bartholomew, the London Mirror's editorial director, issued but later withdrew a statement which said the paper would not change its policy and "I therefore do not doubt at all that this action will be taken."

Morrison suppressed the Communist Daily Worker in January 1941, for printing stories which allegedly fomented opposition to the war effort.

Morrison was questioned in commons as to whether William Randolph Hearst was the London Mirror's owner, but he replied: "This is a newspaper which has no wealthy and single owner. It is a mixed proprietorship. It is one of those mixed financial controls in which you cannot trace a single private interest, so far as I can see."

He did answer when he was asked: "Surely Hearst is part owner?"

(In New York, Martin Hubert, president of American Newspapers (Hearst) said that Hearst had no financial interest in the London Mirror.)

Paper Attacks Hearst
Later a London Mirror official said the question about Hearst was stupid and that the question of the newspaper's ownership "has been answered well enough by Morrison himself." He also referred to an attack on Hearst which the London Mirror is printing tomorrow from John Walters, its New York correspondent.

The cartoon which Morrison cited showed seamen from a torpedoed tanker on a raft under the caption, "the price of petrol has been raised a penny." Critics said the cartoon suggested capital was profiting at the expense of lives that it would discourage seamen from serving their country.

Morrison also quoted an editorial which said: "the accepted tip for army leadership would, in plain words, be this: all who aspire to mislead the other in war should be grass-buttoned boneheads, socially prejudiced, arrogant and fussy. A tendency to heart disease, apoplexy, diabetes and high blood pressure is desirable in the highest spots."

Chicago Meeting

meeting hall, Aspley, replied: "because it is management's responsibility."

Delegates Protest
ANGRY retorts came from delegates who claimed use of two floor microphones, both to recite labor grievances and to reply to Aspley.

Chairman Joseph L. Overlock of the WPB contract distribution branch, and Alexander Kellenbenz, WPB's CIO consultant, repeatedly reminded the gathering that the prime purpose of the meeting was to unify efforts behind the $1,600,000,000 in war contracts in this area.

Robert Travis of the Illinois state CIO council expressed regret that "a tone of griping about the past" had entered the meeting. "To clarify the record," he moved endorsement of the WPB drive "with-out any special advantage for either side." Such a resolution was quickly adopted and the meeting adjourned.

Afterward, Aspley said his reference to "carrying the ball" had been misinterpreted, that he intended simply to "stimulate management and not let labor do all the work."

Adopt Murray's Plan
Norman Harris, Indiana Harbor, Ind., representing the Steel Workers Organization committee and among those who replied to Aspley, said that the current speed-up program through joint labor-management committees was in fact an adaptation of a plan which CIO's Philip Murray conceived two years ago.

"I think labor has carried the ball and will continue to carry it," he said. "Labor is going to win this war."

Two specific suggestions came from the conference. One, from the floor, that war workers be given a symbol of service, will be considered for national application. The other, by Robert Perry, independent union leader, that established plant bargaining committees constitute the labor representation on the speed-up committees "with everyone forgetting they represent anyone or anything but the country" was never formally acted upon.

out to sea, swung southward and maneuvered into formation. Their throttles were opened up, and they tore away.

"Their speed was their protection against submarines, and before dawn the boats, now far beyond Luzon island, crept into an inlet where the jungle hid them from view during the daylight."

"The next night the dash southward resumed. Two days later the rendezvous was reached and there began a wait for three days until the planes arrived."

Take to Planes
"The planes came, the party was transferred aboard them, and on March 17 they landed in Australia."

"Gen. MacArthur arrived in splendid physical condition. Mrs. MacArthur was fatigued by the trip and their son was ill during the journey."

The correspondent quoted Brig. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, present U. S. minister to New Zealand now in Australia enroute to his post, as saying:

"MacArthur's break-through of the Japanese blockade is one of the most spectacular adventures in military annals."

Hitler Recalls

The third task is to advise on the best method of guarding against the opening of a second front by the Allies, a subject much discussed in German news columns recently.

These men are thus reported called back at probably the most critical period since the Russians started the push back of the German army early in the winter. The Germans in the past few days have slowed but have not stopped the Russians.

In the present situation, Nazi units up to the strength of a division are cut off from the main body of troops and are now behind the Russian lines.

Germans May Escape
The Germans hope that these units can break through in attacks from the Russian rear when an offensive is possible, thus becoming an important element in the battle strategy. Right now, however, they must be fed and equipped from the air, and their position could easily become critical.

The weather, after turning warm suddenly, has resumed its winter aspect, seriously hindering plans for spring, German newspapers acknowledged.

Foreign military observers felt at the beginning of February that the Germans had entered a critical period which would determine Nazi ability to wage an effective spring warfare. The Russians did not recapture Smolensk that month, which many observers felt was one requirement for successfully disrupting the German plans.

Nevertheless, continued discussion in the German press of new hardships, along with Russian claims of continued successes, would indicate a sharp setback. One expert section of foreign military opinion, for instance, believes that a German offensive in Russia may now not be possible before the middle of May.

traveling eight days by train and a longer time afoot.

In the Leningrad area the Russians reported two bright developments despite frenzied German counter-attacks:

Izvestia said the Red army between Leningrad and Tikhvin was advancing steadily westward, capturing settlement after settlement.

Pravda, Communist party paper said it had received word from a guerrilla commander that 6,000 square miles of territory west of the Leningrad sector had been cleared of Germans. The exact location was not disclosed, but presumably lay in the vicinity of Estonia.

Eyewitness Gives Account of Fleet And Air Battle

Charles M. Williams Says Nation Can Be Proud of Fighting Men

The nation has reason to be proud of its fighting men of the fleet, according to a letter recently received from Charles M. Williams, of Romney, W. Va., telling of last month's encounter between a task force of the United States Pacific fleet and nearly a score of heavy Japanese bombers.

Williams, an ensign aboard an aircraft carrier which participated in the battle, wrote that the ship was attacked by eighteen enemy bombers, but they were repulsed "in a magnificent performance by men and machinery."

Sixteen Planes Downed

"At least sixteen of the eighteen will never reach their bases again," he added.

Expressing elation over the performance of the men, the Romney man said that "of heroism and good work we had plenty."

"Some pictures were made that I wish could be thrown on screens all over the country tomorrow," he continued, "for America would be mightily proud of her fighting men."

It would inspire, not overconfidence, but the feeling that the weapons the nation forges will be effectively used against the enemy.

Declaring that "luck was with me," Williams said he got to see "all of the battle." He wanted to, and a spectacular sight it was. He concluded with the statement that "otherwise, life goes on as usual."

Tells of Initiation

In a lighter tone, Williams told of his initiation into the "Exalted Order of Shellbacks," describing how "a large and loathsome cargo of landlubbers, beachcombers, guardboats, sea-lawyers, plow-deckers, asphalt arabs . . . and other foul creatures of the land, falsely masquerading as seamen, submitted their vile and lowly persons for initiation into the order and entrance into the exalted realm of Neptunus Rex."

Williams is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Williams, of Romney, and a brother of Manning H. Williams, a former member of the editorial staff of the Cumberland News, now enrolled in a naval reserve training school at New York.

Two Men Convicted On Dip-Net Charge

Two Cumberland men were convicted this week of using illegal dip nets for fishing in the Potomac river, Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke reported last night, renewing his warning against such practices.

Listing the two as Joseph E. McCollough and Orlias McDonald, Minke said $25 fines were suspended by Magistrate Roy S. Bowman, of Cresaptown, on condition they pay the costs and refrain from all violations of the game laws. The small-mesh nets were ordered confiscated.

The arrests were made by District Deputy Game Warden Battle Mixon.

Wegman Is Promoted To Staff Sergeant

Promotion of Corp. Edward J. Wegman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Wegman, of 324 Avirett avenue, to the rank of staff sergeant, has been announced by the United States Army.

Wegman is now with the Four Hundred and Fifth Engineers Corps, Camp Shelby, Miss.

Drafted fourteen months ago, Wegman was inducted at Fort George G. Meade and was transferred to Fort Belvoir, Va., prior to going to Camp Shelby two months ago.

William P. T. Mullen Promoted by Army To First Lieutenant

First Lieutenant William P. T. Mullen, son of Michael E. Mullen, 532 Cumberland street, has been promoted to his new rating in the Twenty-ninth Division by the War Department, according to a story appearing in last week's issue of the Fort Meade Post division newspaper.

Lieut. Mullen is public relations officer for the division and has been supervising the publication of the Fort Meade Post during the absence of Captain Francis E. Lutz, who was transferred to Washington.

Lieut. Mullen served with the First Army Public Relations Division, radio section during army maneuvers last summer in the Carolinas. He is a native of Cumberland and studied journalism at the University of Florida.

"Victory" Will Be Keynote of Banquet

"Victory" will be the keynote of the annual Allegheny 4-H Trail banquet and also the subject of the address to be given by Miss Dorothy Emerson, of the University of Maryland, at 6:15 o'clock this evening in the recreation hall of the Centre Street Methodist church.

Miss Rita Ryan, president of the Allegheny Girls 4-H Trail, will be toastmaster.

Wilma Ryan, Helen Lechlitter, Hannah Golladay, Sophia Powell, and Mrs. Orrie Ravenscraft comprise the program committee and have arranged for a playlet, to be given by the Pinto-Rawlings club; pictures to be shown by Miss Clara Bailey and George Ackerman, College Park; and a musical program of vocal, piano, violin and accordion selections.

Reports of club week and the convention in Chicago will be given. The evening will close with a candlelight service conducted by Miss Maude A. Bean, county home demonstration agent.

Eighty-Six Persons Involved in Suit

Deputy Court Clerk Joseph E. Boden had another big writing job on his hands yesterday when a suit was placed on the equity docket involving eighty-six heirs of the late Hilleary S. Dayton.

Titling of the action, asking court order to authorize sale of properties in Westernport, occupied almost two pages of the docket, and the name of each litigant must be separately indexed.

It was the second suit of the kind within a week. Last week, there were 102 litigants involved in another such suit.

The petition was filed by Morgan C. Harris, attorney.

How War Is To Be Won Town Meeting Topic

"Will Land, Sea or Air Power Win This War?" will be the topic of Sunday's Town Meeting of the Air, according to J. Henry Holzshu, president of the Club of Human Relations, which sponsors the program.

Speakers will be George J. Carroll, chief signalman, U. S. Navy; Oscar C. Gurley, aviation enthusiast; and Robert W. Pink, first sergeant of Company D of the Maryland State Guard.

Walter G. Bell will be moderator for the program, which will be broadcast over WTBO at 5 p. m.

Four Births Are Reported in Hospitals

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller, Route 2, city, announce the birth of a daughter yesterday morning in Allegheny hospital.

A daughter was born yesterday morning to Mr. and Mrs. James Wakefield, Clement street, in Allegheny hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cornwell, 216 Arch street, announce the birth of a daughter in Memorial hospital yesterday morning.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fansler, 19 Bealview street, last evening in Allegheny hospital.

bombing attack on a heavy Japanese cruiser that left it aflame in the New Britain island harbor of Rabaul. Near misses were scored against two other large vessels, the indication being that both were damaged.

This brought to thirty-six the number of enemy ships sunk or damaged in recent Allied air action, twenty-three of them having been accounted for in a United States navy announcement in Washington of yesterday.

Meanwhile, medium forces of enemy bombers raiding Port Moresby were strongly challenged by anti-aircraft fire, and caused no known damage in a half-hour raid.

Darwin, on the northern Australian mainland, was again attacked by a small force of bombers. The first enemy air attack on Cape York, just across the Torres strait from Port Moresby, also was reported, but there was no announcement of damage there. In addition, Tulagi, Florida Island, in the Solomon, was bombed.

With the new supreme commander, General Douglas MacArthur, making it plain that his paramount purpose here was to build as swiftly as possible an offensive force to smash Japan and relieve his beleaguered troops on Bataan and Corregidor, the Australian war cabinet met to advance previously-prepared strategy.

Compulsory civilian defense duties were ordered for all Australians between the ages of 16 and 60 not now in the fighting or auxiliary forces. A mobile squadron of the Royal Australian Air Force also was ordered formed, to construct landing grounds and encampments as speedily as possible for the use of the expanding U. S. and Australian air forces and for disposition of rapidly incoming United States aircraft.

Firemen Answer Two Calls Here

West Side Fire Company answered a call to the home of Harry McColm, Gephart drive last evening, 8 o'clock to extinguish a fire caused by an overheated furnace. Damage was reported to be slight.

South End firemen were called to extinguish an automobile fire on Oak street early yesterday afternoon but found the blaze out when they arrived. The owner of the car could not be found, and flames said little damage was caused.

Chinese To Fight

trip to Australia by Rear Admiral Francis W. Rockwell, naval commandant in the Philippine island. The announcement said Rockwell expected to be given "an appropriate command, probably at sea."

The Chinese troops General Stilwell commands made contact one week ago with their British allies about eighty miles north of Bataan, after having moved southward over the Burma road.

They were described as excellent soldiers, well equipped with arms, but lacking in artillery and other equipment.

First To Command Chinese

General Stilwell was believed by officials to be the first American general to command a major force of Chinese troops aside from the volunteers who have played a full part in China's history. Officials believed Stilwell would be responsible primarily to Chiang Kai-Shek rather than to General Archibald Wavell, supreme commander in India and Burma.

Bomb Jap Airport

WASHINGTON, March 19 (P)—A raid by American army bombers on the Japanese-held airport at Koepang on the Netherlands Indies island of Timor, which hits were scored on runways and installations damaged was reported today by the war department.

A Question That Is Easily Answered

COMMENTING upon the recent pictorially-supported account by the News of the abandoned CCC camp near Flintstone, and noting that this story of reckless waste corresponds to that brought to light regarding an abandoned CCC camp in Pennsylvania, the Baltimore Evening Sun notes a difference respecting these establishments occasioned by the war situation.

"There were better reports on the CCC camps in other days," the Evening Sun says. "They persuaded most of the public that, however dubious other New Deal agencies might be, these were rendering an excellent social and economic service. They took thousands of idle boys off street corners and out of mischief to live wholesome, disciplined lives and engage in useful employment. It will be too bad if this better reputation is now to be obscured and perhaps shattered by bungling that will stamp CCC as of a piece with the NYA."

"War has changed both the social and economic status of youth. The circumstances and conditions that once appeared to justify the CCC and its program have largely vanished. There is, in consequence, a growing demand for a sharp curtailment if not abandonment of CCC activities. Is it too much to ask of those who are charged with concluding the CCC story that they write a final chapter that is worthy of the first?"

In view of the exhibits that have been presented, the answer to that query seems easy.

An Inside Report On the Country

PEARSON AND ALLEN, the Washington columnists, report the conclusion of a tour of the country by several smart Democratic leaders from which they have brought reports of a widespread undercurrent of dissatisfaction among the people over the administration of affairs at Washington.

It is of interest to note the causes the travelers found for this attitude. The thing which cut most deeply, they found, was the appointment of Mrs. Roosevelt's protegee-dancer to a juicy OGD job. That, however, was what probably set off the spark. Other factors listed are the sensational disclosures of enormous profits on war contracts, Jesse Jones's failure to prevent a rubber shortage, the apparent bungling of the Southwest Pacific battle.

But those listed as principal causes are the president's failure to compel a complete halt of labor stoppages in war production and his refusal to replace some of his cabinet members, particularly Madame Perkins, with young, able and vigorous executives. On these two points, the report is that people everywhere were "angry and mystified."

The leaders who made the tour did so, Pearson and Allen say, for the purpose of feeling the political pulse of the country, which doesn't seem to dovetail with some recent preachments we have heard. They found the prospects for their party very gloomy and in consequence are privately but bluntly warning the White House masterminds that unless they get busy they will surely face a repetition of Woodrow Wilson's loss of the House at this fall elections.

This newspaper believes that will happen anyway, because mismanagement and lack of definite policies have been so egregious, but we are supposed to be fighting the war now and letting partisanship, though not politics, go hang, wherefore this will be about all for the time being.

A National Disgrace

SINCE LAST DECEMBER, two reports of the most pressing importance to the country have been under public examination and discussion.

One of these was the report made by the Congressional committee on the reduction of non-essential public expenditures headed by that indomitable watchdog of the treasury Senator Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia. It is a great pity we do not have more public men of his courage and energy in which it was specifically shown where reductions of some $1,700,000,000 annually could have been made at once.

The other report, made by the independent non-partisan Brookings Institute, a research organization, pointed out where cuts could be safely made amounting to $2,000,000 annually.

Both these reports were of a preliminary nature. Additional recommendations, involving further reductions in spending, were promised.

Senator Byrd has just submitted some additional recommendations. They show that reductions totaling $2,078,349,000 can be made and should be made.

The senator made these additional proposals in his capacity as an individual senator rather than as chairman of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Non-essential Federal Expenditures. That group is expected to act further on the general subject.

Abolition of the NYA, the CCC, the WPA and the FSA is advocated as representing non-essential present needs. The recommendations respecting CCC and NYA are identical with those the joint committee made last December. The Virginian's recommendations regarding WPA goes further than those of the committee.

In view of the drain on manpower for the armed services and for war production, these agencies may well be eliminated as being no longer needed or duplicated expense and effort. The NYA, for example, has been shown quite plainly to be superfluous. Here in Maryland it is doing nothing educational that isn't being done better and at less cost than in the public school system. Every vocational enrollee of the NYA in this state could easily be absorbed in public school vocational classes without adding to accommodations, equipment or personnel. Also, the public school trainee teaches the production line in half the time—six weeks as compared with three months—and at an individual cost to the taxpayers of $23.76 instead of $167.75, the NYA cost per student. Moreover, a lot of the tools and machinery tied up in the NYA playhouses could be diverted to war production where they are badly needed.

Congress has up to the present time failed to act on these various recommendations, has failed to make a single important cut in non-defense spending of any kind. By its indifference and inaction it has shown a tragic lack of understanding of war conditions and their present tremendous exactions. It has raised the specter of ruinous taxation and placed the national economy in jeopardy.

This failure, as one commentator has aptly declared, is a national disgrace.

Hoping and Helping

MUCH has been heard about that forthcoming "spring offensive" of Adolf Hitler. But now, it seems, the real spring offensive is Marshal Timoshenko's. It is to be hoped fervently that things stay that way.

If Russia really has hurled ninety divisions, totaling between 1,500,000 and 1,750,000 men, into that spring drive, the Germans ought to have their hands more than full in Russia, without risking offensives on such new fronts as the Middle East and Africa. But it would be unwise to become too optimistic.

It is well to remember that for some months there have been frequent comparisons between German reverses in the Russian winter campaign and Napoleon's catastrophic retreat from Moscow. The Russians deserve all the glowing tributes that have been paid them for their magnificent stand against Hitler's Nazis. But here is something to remember:

In March, 1813, Napoleon's armies had been shattered, routed and driven from Russian soil. In March, 1942, Hitler's forces still hold almost ninety per cent of the Russian territory gained in the summer and fall of 1941.

Maybe Timoshenko's new drive will mark the beginning of a real German retreat, paralleling that of Napoleon in 1812-13. At least this is a worthy hope. The Russians deserve cheers in their valiant efforts. They rate more than cheers. America must send them all the help it can in the form of war supplies. If possible, the Allies must participate in making trouble for Hitler on a new front.

But it would be unwise to exult too loudly over that "Napoleonic retreat" until the Germans really are on their way back home. Overconfidence wins no wars.

The Dutch, we read, burned cane plantations as the Japs advanced. The Rising Sun boys, it would appear, will find no sugar in their Java.

Got Prejudices?

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Don't YOU like thick apple pie, either? . . . Or pickles in the sand, or limp handshakes, or dialect stories? . . . Or people who say they never talk gossip and insist on it too proudly?

Don't you like them? Don't you like celery root or spinach or eggplant? . . . Or salesmen who try so hard to "sell themselves" to you that they forget the other thing they are trying to sell. . . . Or ekesters who poke you in the ribs while they're telling their stories?

Don't you like people, like me, who borrow books and don't bring them back. . . . Or who heard somebody saying something pleasant about you the other day but can't remember who said it or what they said. . . . Or traffic officers who shout at you or sneer or are sarcastic. . . . Or people who refuse another helping and say no when they really mean yes. . . . Or clergymen who seem ashamed of their profession. . . . Or salesmen who tell you "this is what everybody's wearing." . . . Or intellectuals who sneer at what other people like. . . . Or acquaintances who tell you something you "ought to know." . . . Or those who drive up in front of your house and honk their horns. . . . Or doctors who don't tell you the truth. . . . Or orators who ridicule a child. . . . Or even fine people who take you through their gardens and expect you to be as crazy about flowers as they are?

Don't you like them? Do they make you wrinkle? Then we have much in common. We have the same prejudices and we could be friends. You don't like something and neither do I. I object to something else and you agree. How wise we are what men of sound judgment! We have taken our stand and we will stick to it. We will all die heroically in defense of our prejudices. I'll swear by you, you'll swear by me. It's funny, isn't it? We should be friends because we share some great and noble aspirations, because we love the same thing, because we are soldiers in a common cause. . . . But nine times in ten we are friends because we both hate the top sergeant and neither of us likes the show we've been getting.

How strange that this should be!

Scoreboard Shows Heavy Ship Losses By the Japanese

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The best of the news from the Jap war front has been lost in scattered communications.

It is true our navy has not done much with the main Jap battle fleet. It has not even been seen since the war started. The Japs are keeping their big capital ships out of their South Pacific campaign in fear of our flying fortresses and submarines.

Big battle wagons do not even carry depth bombs for defense against subs. As they cannot be maneuvered swiftly they must rely on destroyers for sub protection, and upon aircraft carriers for protection against planes.

But day by day in every way, our navy and army have been pecking away mainly at the indispensable, but unspectacular, phase of the Jap attack—the transport, supply and tanker ships, and their convoy protection.

Up to Wednesday night the United Nations had put out of action nearly one-fourth of Tokyo's estimated supply wagons of the sea, without which their advance cannot be maintained or their conquests held, and forty-four of the cruisers protecting them (out of a total estimated strength of fifty-six cruisers).

The Scoreboard

The scoreboard in this supply shipping here shows: sunk 110 (including seven by the Australians); damaged fifty-four (including fifteen by the Australians); total put out of action 164.

Jap merchant marine strength was estimated at 898 ships for this type of service on the eve of the war, counting everything above 2,000 tons. Of these 717 were freighters, 132 combined passenger and cargo ships, and forty-nine tankers. But 162 were under 3,000 tons and could not be used for the farflung service of this attack. So 736 is a fair estimate of what the Japs could use and 164 is about 23 per cent of this, now counted as out of action.

This punch of ships is important furthermore, because the Japs cannot produce them as we can. Her merchant shipbuilding capacity is limited to 300,000 to 400,000 gross tons a year while we expect to build 6,000,000 gross tons this year and 10,000,000 next.

Furthermore, her lifeline must not only supply the Jap armies in the scattered islands of Oceania, Malaya, the Philippines, Indo-China and Java, but also their main army in China. Their supply line from Tokyo to Port Darwin, Australia, would run approximately 2,800 miles long. The farther they go the more supply ships they will need to sustain themselves.

Warship Total Mounts

Even with the main Jap fleet hiding at home, the toll of fighting ships is beginning to mount. United Nations claim to have put out of action four stray battleships of an estimated eighteen (it may be more) in the Jap fleet. Only two were sunk, two damaged.

Jap losses in aircraft carriers has run higher than you would think, with half her estimated strength put out of action (three sunk, two damaged).

Cruisers and destroyers are types she must have to protect her supply convoys. We claim seventeen sunk, twenty-seven damaged, or a total of forty-four out of action. (She is reputed to have only fifty-six, but she probably has more). Of her estimated strength of 136 destroyers, twenty-two are claimed sunk, twelve damaged, or a total of thirty-four.

In submarines, her losses have been light, ten sunk and two damaged out of estimated strength of seventy-eight. Sub losses, however, are difficult to calculate accurately, and no doubt she has lost more than claimed.

Java Loss Offset

When you add it all up, the dismal setback we suffered in the Java sea (loss of twelve fighting ships of

SUCCEEDS MACARTHUR

Maj. Gen. Wainwright

Maj. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, above, a cavalry officer, has been named to succeed Gen. Douglas MacArthur as commander of the American-Philippine forces in the Philippines. Gen. MacArthur has been transferred with his staff to Australia where he becomes supreme commander of United Nations forces in the Australian area.

REMEMBER, WHAT THE AXIS DOESN'T KNOW WON'T HURT US

Transfer of Gen. MacArthur Is Cause Of Keen Regret for Gen. Hugh Johnson

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON, March 19.—"There is so much good in the worst of us

And so much bad in the best of us

That it little befits any of us

To find fault with the rest of us."

That old-fashioned admonition is probably entirely beside the point here because nobody—soldier or civilian—is going to criticize Douglas MacArthur for leaving Bataan to go to Australia and assume the Far Eastern Allied command.

If there were no other reason, he is a soldier and bound to obey the orders of his superior, the president. He was ordered to Australia.

There are other reasons, for example, of which we don't know all the facts.

But after all this is said, there are many of his sincere and life-long well-wishers who wish it could have been otherwise.

As far as the cold military facts are concerned, this is believed to leave Gen. Wainwright in command at Mariveles and Bataan. To my certain knowledge, for I served there at the same time, Wainwright knows the tangled terrain as well as MacArthur.

A Soldier As Good

While his record is not quite so spectacular, he comes as near as anybody to being as good a soldier as MacArthur. He is a better horseman, rifleman and pistol shot and has an even more intimate experience in the actual command of troops.

He may not, and probably does not, have the confidence of the Filipinos to the same devoted degree, but he must have gained a great deal during this campaign, because he is as fearless as his former commander and has the same comradely easy-going understanding attitude toward enlisted men.

And yet—and yet again—I say there are many old comrades of both men who, without a thought of criticism, wish it could have been otherwise.

MacArthur was in the spot of brightest opportunity in which a soldier ever stood and he was making his brilliant most of it. It put him in the ranks of the world's greatest heroes.

Daring But Simple

One reason for this was that his position and the daring thing he was doing with it were so simple and easy to understand. He was the idol of two armies and two peoples—our own and the Filipinos—and both regarded him as their peculiar possession.

The field to which he now goes is far more complex. He is responsible to five nations—our own, the Aussies, the Filipinos, the British and the Dutch. He faces a country and a problem strange to him.

Regardless of his brilliant record, he has to make good again and this time to people who are, in some respects, strangers and among some professionals who may look at him somewhat as a rival and his appointment as designed in part to engage us more deeply in affairs on the other side of the world.

It is no easy task to which he goes. The situation, while not hopeless, is certainly a long and dangerous chance. We may call it "supreme command" but that is so only in so far as our allies furnish him troops to put under that command.

A Fact Remains

When, with the utmost sympathy, we have said all that has been said here, the fact will remain to be shouted or whispered that, among a very few great commanders, he left the little army that had made him famous and, with a very few associates, escaped to less immediate dangers.

There may have been enough sufficient reasons, which we do not know completely, to justify this. But at the beginning of this high adventure many of us feared that it would be Philippine President Quezon who would leave MacArthur—who always scoffed at the thought. Apparently Quezon is still on the job.

It would have been much more satisfactory if this aspect of the case could be avoided. Maybe it can when all the facts are known.

Choice Wins Applause

From the Fairmont, W. Va., Times

West Virginians will not be alone in their applause of the choice of Col. Louis Johnson to head the new United States Advisory Mission to India. Engineering industrialists make up the commission with the sole exception of Col. Johnson. But it is obvious he was chosen as the leader because of the great pioneering work he did long before America was attacked by Japan.

It was while Johnson was assistant secretary of war that he toured the nation and mapped a comprehensive plan, with the aid of American industrialists, for the conversion of American industry to war production. We do not know how much of Col. Johnson's plan for the mobilization of industry has been carried out by the leaders who succeeded him. But certainly the value of his plan must be recognized, for he is being sent with his colleagues to India to do much the same job he did here long ago.

India's resources are vast and her industrial development is surprisingly great. It will be the task of the American mission to explore the possibilities of American aid for India's war effort. Chiefly American aid along these lines will consist of helping to organize, helping to convert industry to war output and helping to plot future development to put India's wealth of manpower in the production line.

It is to be hoped that Great Britain can move swiftly enough to quell the newly reported threat of revolt in India and give our American mission time to get there and get in its good looks.

Morning Motto

Be courteous to all, but intimate with few; and let those few be well tried before you give them your confidence. True friendship is a plant of slow growth, and must undergo and withstand the shocks of adversity before it is entitled to the appellation. Let your heart feel for the affections and distresses of every one, and let your head give in proportion to your purse, remembering always the estimation of the widow's mite that it is not every one that asketh that deserveth charity; all, however, are worthy of the inquiry, or the deserving may suffer.—GEORGE WASHINGTON.

Axis Treachery May Be Helpful To Allied Cause

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

Nazi and Jap treachery naturally is resented by the United Nationalities for all they are worth when it's directed their way, but there are observers among them who remark that it may yet prove an extremely valuable thing if the Axis folk get to playing it on one another. Some prophets believe perhaps before very long they are likely to do just that.

Charles P. Stewart

I don't suppose anybody doubts that the Japs took the warpath when they did for the sake of what they calculated they could win for themselves in the midst of the general confusion and not on account of the slightest inclination to help the rest of the Axis or that they hesitate to dump Herr Hitler in a minute if they considered it a disadvantage to do so. It equally is a foregone conclusion that Adolf doesn't care a hoot for the Japs except as he can use them for his personal benefit.

Signs Appear

Now, there begin to be signs that Nazi and Jap interests are starting to diverge.

The Fuehrer obviously deems it urgently necessary for his forces to get the Russians off their hands this spring. They distract him like sixty from attending to his other fronts and it stands to reason that he's desperately anxious to make quick work of them. Spring weather probably will be somewhat helpful to him, but it will be a heap more helpful if the Japs will jump them from their point of the compass at the same time.

Nice Promises

Hence the huge promises it's revealed that he has been making to them. If they'll wade in—Siberia, Alaska, all the Pacific Ocean, India and its environs and the bulk of Africa, and later a crack in partnership with himself, at the whole of the western hemisphere.

It's imaginable, though, that the Japs may question that he can deliver the goods.

Furthermore, supposing that, with their assistance, which evidently he imperatively needs, or he wouldn't be prepared to pay so much for it, he finally is in a position to make delivery—will he keep his word? Or will he elect to hang on to the entire loot, forcing the Japs to fight him, in turn, to get their split, if they can lick him? And that would be problematic too. They don't trust him, of course, any farther than a man could throw a bull by the tail—and more than he trusts them.

Not Disputed

That Nippon would be glad to grab Siberia isn't disputed or that it'll be disposed to fight Russia for it, but at its individual convenience—NOT Herr Hitler's.

It has been doing unpleasant (from the United Nations' standpoint) well for itself thus far in Burma, Thailand, the Philippines, the Dutch East Indies and down toward Australasia. "What's the matter," asks Jap ex-War Minister Seishiro Itagaki (a general and a big man), "with consolidating our conquests where we've made them, regardless of taking on a lot of fresh contracts in Fuehrer Adolf's behalf?"

Adolf's argument is that, in one he's licked the democracies will take the Japs' gains away from them again; but the Japs angle is that the present is the immediate item.

Mutual Suspicion

Besides, they are as suspicious of each other as they are of the definite future.

And he's correspondingly suspicious of them.

These mutual Axis suspicions are a nice thing for the democracies. Italy doesn't enter materially into the question. It's the consensus that the Fascist regime will blow up as soon as the Nazis flatten out. So, for that matter, to a certainty, will Japan, but the Jap militarists are cuckoo and, just now, they're inflated with pride.

The Japs need to be understood. They are of two kinds. There is a civilian statesmanship, which is sensible and fairly decent. The Samurai, or militarists, are nutty—suicidal. If they consider it necessary, Pooh-pooh that element is a mistake. It honestly exists. And it's entirely independent of the rational civil government. Yet it isn't pro-Nazi. It is familiar with pre-Hitleristic talk of the "yellow peril" and hasn't forgotten it.

That Axis can't disintegrate yet.

Advice to the Lovelorn

BEATRICE FAIRFAX, Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage — Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Broke the Engagement
Dear Miss Fairfax:
I went with a girl over two years and we were engaged. She left the city and wrote me that she wants to break it off. But she didn't return my ring. Do you think I should look around for another girl or wait for her to return to me?

J. H.

This former girl of yours should have returned the ring immediately. I hate to come to such an unfavorable conclusion, but it seems that a number of girls are engaged in the enterprise of collecting engagement rings.

Boys have written that they are still paying for diamonds conferred upon young ladies who broke the engagement as soon as they got the rings. In the case of girls so lacking in the ordinary decencies of life, it would be well to write them that as the truth is broken, it's time to return the ring.

It's conceivable to think of a man paying for a ring when a girl is probably doing the spade work of getting herself engaged to somebody else to pay for a second ring.

Could Be Happy with Either
Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm 18 years old and think I'm in love with two boys—if that's possible. I met them last July, one of them being my chum's brother, and the other his best friend. I fell in love with both of them. They are 24 and 22, very fine fellows and have both shown me good times.

When I'm with one, he says he thinks I'm in love with the other, and vice versa. I feel this is the real thing but am not sure which one I love most. Please tell me whether it's possible to be in love with two men at the same time.

D. A. G.

As this column has frequently pointed out, and the wisdom is not mine, when a man or woman declares he is in love with two people at one and the same time, the blissful state is being in love with love rather than any individual.

At eighteen you've got plenty of time to unravel your affections and decide with which of these young men you're actually in love.

"Man Overboard!"

"Dear Miss Fairfax:
I've been wondering about a boy I think a lot of. We're not engaged, but hope to be some day. When a ship is blown up I suppose a man must take his chances with the lifeboat, but what happens when a man in the rigging falls overboard? Is an attempt made to rescue him?

WAITING.

I'm told by the Navy Department that when a man falls overboard the rescue is a matter of seconds. The cry "Man overboard" rings out

The ship is stopped, life buoys are thrown over. Previously instructed men go aloft to keep the man in sight; a float fitted with a mast and light which ignites upon contact with the water are thrown out as a marker as is a can stuffed with vacuum soaked in oil to create a "slick" around the man. A boat is lowered as soon as a seep is sufficiently reduced. This all happens almost in a matter of seconds, so well trained is each man on his job.

Series of Teas Will Be Given For W.C.T.U.

Parties Will Be Held in Cumberland and Surrounding Communities

A series of teas will be given for the benefit of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, sometime after Easter, and a collection for the Frances Willard Memorial fund will be taken. Plans were made at the meeting of the Board of Executives of the union, Wednesday morning at Central Y.M.C.A. Mrs. Wesley C. Light, Mrs. Ernest Yates and Mrs. Elizabeth Zihlman were appointed a committee to assign hostesses and their assistants. The parties will be held in Cumberland and the surrounding sections.

Mrs. John I. Vandegrift reported approximately 7,000 "sunshine bags" have been sent to the men in service from Allegheny county. Other sunshine bags are some hospital bags, containing gifts of candy, cookies, toilet articles, pictures and health cards, will be made. Petitions for keeping beer out of the camps were prepared and will be sent to Annapolis and Washington.

The program for the year was planned with Mrs. Yates as citizenship and international relations chairman; Mrs. Light educational chairman; Mrs. Zihlman in charge of the sailors and soldiers work; Mrs. Vandegrift, sunshine bags; Mrs. Frank Beachly, radio and devotionals; Mrs. John S. Cook, county survey and Mrs. Jessie Utt, literature and program.

Civic Club Group Hears Address On Costa Rica

Mrs. Carl E. Brown, of Washington, Gives Interesting Talk

In perfect English with a Spanish accent, Mrs. Carl E. Brown, Washington, D. C., told members of the Woman's Civic Club that Costa Rica received refugees from Poland with the hope that they would develop land, but none took up agriculture. Instead, they bought the business and now control it. Most of them have not mingled with the Costa Rican population but have remained an alien group.

Mrs. Brown, wife of the counsel of Costa Rica, was the guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Woman's Civic Club yesterday afternoon in Emmanuel Episcopal parish house. In speaking on "Costa Rica and Its People" she began with the settlement of the country in 1502, and the prompt elimination of the Indians, so that today except far up in the mountains there is practically no Indian blood there, and they are contacted only by the missionaries once every few years because of the lack of roads in the mountains.

The Spanish, she said, are a friendly, easy going people which is at the same time their greatest attraction and drawback. Sixty per cent of the wealth of the country, she declared, is in growing and exporting coffee.

In the forum discussion which followed Mrs. Brown said that a large German colony came to Costa Rica to live and intermarry, but that the Americans came to make money and return to the United States to spend it, and so create a feeling of hostility. The Good Neighbor policy will be of slow growth, she warned her audience.

Mrs. Matthew Gault, Baltimore, chairman of institutes for the Maryland Federation of Women's clubs, accompanied Mrs. Brown and introduced her. Mrs. Thomas Pickering with Mrs. Richard W. Trevaickis at the piano, sang "Slave Song" by Teresa Del Riego; and "Comin' Thru the Rye."

Fifty-five members attended the meeting. Yellow jonquills were used in the table decorations and a yellow, green and white color scheme was carried on.

Junior Music Festival Will Be Held Saturday

Sight Singing, Musicianship and Audience Groups Will Feature

The annual Junior Music Festival being sponsored by the Music and Arts Club will be held tomorrow at the Fort Hill and Allegheny high school auditoriums, beginning at 9 a. m.

Mrs. Robert H. Mann, regional chairman for the Maryland Federation of Music Clubs, is general chairman of the festival and will be the hostess at Fort Hill. Mrs. Henry C. Swearingen, president of the Music and Arts club, will be hostess at Allegheny.

The hostesses will be assisted by Mrs. Frank Stuart Rowe, Mrs. Thomas Pickering, Mrs. Mabel Popp, Mrs. Robert T. Kerlin, Mrs. Richard W. Trevaickis, Mrs. Duke W. Burger, Mrs. William L. Keller, Mrs. James W. Kirk and Miss Elizabeth Hunter. The judges will be Miss Clara Ascherfeld, for piano; and Robert Bolles, orchestra and instrumental; both of Peabody Conservatory of Music, Baltimore; and C. James Velle, vocal, music supervisor for Baltimore county.

The festival is held in order to give a definite immediate objective, to inspire greater effort for artistic achievement, to provide a basis for higher musical attainment through constructive criticism and to give publicity and credit for merit.

Innovations this year will be sight singing, musicianship and good audience groups. Entrants will compete in voice and musical instruments, both individually and in groups. Sixty-five entrants have been registered. They include trumpet, violin, piano, voice solo and ensemble.

The Junior Festival will be held in Hagerstown, March 28, and in Baltimore April 4, with the same judges. Miss Doris Wright, state junior councilor, will select some of those who receive superior ratings at the festivals to give a Junior program at the sixteenth annual convention of the Maryland Federation of Music Clubs to be held at State Teachers college at Frostburg April 16, 17 and 18, under the general chairmanship of Maurice Matteson.

MEMORIAL HOSPITAL AUXILIARY RAISES $100 FOR WARD

George Tedrick Is Named Head Of Conference

Middle Atlantic Christian Endeavor Group Will Meet Here in May

George H. Tedrick, vice-president of the Maryland Christian Endeavor Union, has been appointed chairman of the Middle Atlantic Regional Conference of the Christian Endeavor convention to be held here May 1, 2 and 3 by Frank Baker, Jr., president.

Other chairmen are Miss Georgetta Klavuhn, registrar; Claude MacDonald, publicity; Miss Margaret Doak, housing; the Rev. Paul Henry Packard speaker and the Rev. Harold Garland, usher. Several other chairmen are to be appointed.

Ruhl B. Wolford, past vice-president of the International Society of Christian Endeavor in charge of the Middle Atlantic Region, will come here from Pittsburgh on March 28 to meet with the local chairmen.

The Centre Street Methodist church will be the convention church, and the Friday, Saturday and Sunday morning services will be held there. The Sunday afternoon service will be held in the First Presbyterian church, Washington street. A Sun-Rise service is being planned for Sunday morning. The Fort Cumberland hotel will be convention headquarters.

Fashion Show Will Feature Tea Friday

Mother-Daughter Affair Will Be Given by Girl Scouts

A fashion show will be a feature of the Mother-Daughter tea to be given at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon by the Girl Scout Senior Troop No. 14, at the little house, 72 Greene street.

Showing of all clothes made by the girls during the year will include sport wear, school, party and evening clothes. Miss Rita Millerson, who wrote the script, will announce the numbers.

Wilma Tomsko will preside at the tea table, and be assisted by all members of the troop. Betty Lou Hillock will receive the guests, assisted by Theresa Lee Kompanek and Donna Matthews.

Final plans for the tea were completed at the meeting of the troop Wednesday evening. Miss Kompanek and Miss Matthews were accepted as members of the troop after attending the required four preceding meetings.

Doctor Says Fingernails Are Often Good Indication of General Health

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Fingernails are often a good indication of general health. Although they contain no living cells themselves, they are formed from living cells located back of the nail base and under the cuticle at the nail base. All changes in the growth of the nail plate depend upon changes in the living cells of the nail matrix.

The nail is advanced progressively upward, pushed outward toward the free edge by the growing cells behind it. Any injury, or disease or lack of nutrition, or general bad health of the nail matrix, will effect the nail for the term of its life.

What causes fingernails to split or peel? As far as can be determined there is no reason to suppose that any nail polish in general use today can be held responsible for the scaling of peeling of nails. On the contrary, studies demonstrate that more injuries and dryness of the nails occur in women not using nail polish than in those who use it regularly.

Splitting Nails

The commonest cause of splitting or peeling of the nails is carelessness—failure to prevent fraying at the free edges of the nails by keeping them properly filed.

What causes nails to become thin and brittle? In general, ill health will do this. The nails do not become thin and brittle simply because they have been covered with nail polish. Thin, brittle, thickened and deformed nails are the result usually of some local damage or infection, including infection with fungi or other germs in the nail bed.

The covering of a split or peeling nail with Scotch tape or other adhesive does not harm the nail in any way and is a good treatment for this condition. Making the weakened nail stronger and preventing the injury from becoming worse.

Ridges on the nails may be transverse or longitudinal. Transverse ridges often indicate past illnesses—periods of malnutrition when the nail matrix is undernourished. Longitudinal ridges are of no significance and are simply due to irregularity of the nail matrix.

Growth

Nails grow, on the average, about 1-32 of an inch a week. As a rule, it requires four or five or six months for a nail to replace itself. The distance of transverse ridges from the cuticle, therefore, is a measurement of the time of past ill health.

The treatment of a hangnail is to trim it carefully with a scissors. Then touch the spot with a mild antiseptic, such as tincture of iodine or alcohol, to prevent infection, and cover with a flexible colodion dressing.

White spots on the nail are usually the result of some slight injury to the matrix of the nail bed, following the over-enthusiastic use of manicuring instruments. If you fail to be gentle when pushing back the cuticle around the half-moon area, you may bruise the matrix and cause white spots to form.

Questions and Answers
W. L.: "Would you suggest an operation for adhesions? Could hernia appear after adhesions? Should a person do hard work with adhesions?"

Answer: In my experience operations for adhesions simply cause more adhesions. There may be a hernia from adhesions, in which case I would advise repair of the hernia. Many people do hard work with adhesions.

MAKE IT A DOUBLE ONE

IF THERE is no way to make your contract except by a squeeze play, you may proceed usually in either of three general ways. One is to try to squeeze your left-hand opponent, another is to try to squeeze the right-hand defender. But the better way is to try to discard so that you may hamstring either one of them, and possibly both. That goes, no matter how well you have read their cards at the start. Perhaps one of them has fooled you by something he did.

Martinsburg Officials Return Collie Mascot To Army Fliers

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., March 17. (AP)—One of the principal difficulties encountered by fliers from an army pursuit squadron while traveling through Martinsburg was the loss of their collie mascot, but they got plenty of help from city authorities.

The officers, who stopped over on their way back to their post by train, notified police the dog had gotten away in Martinsburg. The officers finally found the canine in a Berkeley county home.

Fortwith they crated the dog, provided it with fresh meat and canned food (the humane society produced a can opener), and sent it back to the headquarters.

War Insurance Rates Announced

Minimum of Ten Cents Per $100 Suggested by Sec. Jones

WASHINGTON, March 19. (AP)—Property owners would pay from ten cents per $100 upward for government insurance against damage from enemy attack under tentative rates proposed by Secretary of Commerce Jones.

The rates were contained in a letter Jones sent Senator Maloney (D-Conn.) and made public by the latter as Congress approved and sent to the president the bill authorizing up to $1,000,000,000 for a war damage insurance program.

The measure originally passed the Senate providing for free insurance up to $15,000 but this was finally changed in the House and in conference to require premium payments.

Jones as head of the war damage corporation, said "our thought" as to appropriate rates is as follows:

Ten to fifteen cents per $100 coverage for farms, dwellings, and commercial properties up to $10,000; from fifteen to twenty cents per $100 coverage on such risks between $10,000 and $25,000; and graduated rates on all amounts above $25,000.

Although there had been some talk of giving property owners in the coastal areas a different rate, Jones said the WDC was of the opinion that "since losses resulting from the war are a national responsibility, there should be no discrimination in rates because of geographical location."

Young Children Should Perform Group Numbers

Showing Off of Youngsters by Parents Has Number of Evils

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

A little while ago I observed a program given by the young children of a Sunday school before the whole school filling a large auditorium. It was dignified, impressive, brief.

The little tots were sent out on platform alone to be embarrassed and forget their pieces, or to be laughed at for their cunningness. They appeared in groups talking to the audience, singing in concert, doing a work.

They have come away from similar groups enraged at what I saw and heard. Babies scarcely able to walk, little songs or verses, and at by the audience if they anything not expected of adults.

And at in the midst of their performance, little children saying things which they thought were funny but which, they discovered, were people of the church treated more jokes.

Those who with great diligence and patience train the little children for such a program don't have the children in mind. An entertainment is being put on for the grown-ups.

The little child who spouts off pieces in public or at home before guests, so as to win strong approval is in grave danger of becoming arrogant. He soon craves for more attention that he ought to have, and for more than he will get later in life. When, at last, he feels a falling off of marvel and surprise at his cleverness, he suffers terribly. He may become annoying to adults, avoided by his playmates.

If you have a child who is musically inclined, it may encourage him to practice if you have him play occasionally before your friends. But keep in mind that grave dangers face him and that, therefore, you are going to do your utmost not to ruin him.

As a rule, it is not good for young children to perform individually in public, nor at home before company.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. I have a child eight years old whom I have tried to bring up without resorting to physical punishment but solely by reasoning and persuading. Now I find him almost unmanageable. Should I use corporal punishment on him?

A. I dislike to advise corporal punishment so very late. Of course, you must find some way to manage that lad. In case you do use corporal punishment, you and the boy's other parent should first agree on a definite program. In this event, let me suggest that you limit such punishment to only one situation

Finds Wife's Theosophy Grounds for Divorce

LOS ANGELES, March 19 (AP)—James Bartram, British industrialist, described in superior court about finding his wife's bedroom door locked when he returned from a trip to Australia in which his girl secretary accompanied him.

The former actress Juliette Compton Bartram is seeking a divorce, charging cruelty.

"I said to Juliette," Bartram testified, "something wrong is going on in this house. How can I reconcile my reception by you with my anticipations? You only gave me a little peck when you met me on my return. But his wife told him, Bartram recounted.

"There are other things more important in married life than physical union—a relationship which is pure spiritualism. Husband gave up his family for a more spiritual life and we likewise must live in a spiritual union."

Bartram earlier contended that his wife's devotion to theosophy caused their marital troubles.

"PARASITES!" DECLARES F. D. R., SO THE TEAPOT BOILS AWAY; MAYBE THE LID'LL BLOW RIGHT OFF

By MALVINA STEPHENSON
Central Press Writer

WASHINGTON, D. C. March 19.—President Roosevelt started it, and now the label of "parasite" has become the symbol for name-calling and wisecracking in many quarters.

The chief executive who presides in the 35-room White House at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue originally applied the term to the "purely social residents," the people in the 20-room establishments, particularly along fashionable Massachusetts avenue. He not only intimated that this jam-packed capital could do without them, but reminded that under his war powers, he could actually take over homes if he should choose to.

More recently, the "parasite" label has been hung on various government officials, particularly the dangers of OGD who, incidentally, are attributed to the president's wife. An irate Republican club woman suggested that it might be well to begin with certain "satellites" around the White House offices.

Teapot Boils
The tempest in the teapot, however, continues to boil over the social elite. The president's warning hit society's upper crust and literally shook Washingtonians to the roots of their famous family trees. The reaction runs the gamut all the way from ridicule and amusement to open consternation.

This may be purely coincidence, but the whole town's talking. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, the president's fifth cousin, "far removed," has for many years lived in a four-story mansion at 2009 Massachusetts avenue with her daughter, Pauline, in the very heart of the area which drew the president's accusing finger.

Despite the threatened exile, however, "Princess Alice" is still sitting tight. Widow of Speaker Nicholas Longworth and herself once a White House occupant as daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt, she retorted, "I'm a squatter of 52 years' standing."

She added, "You may say Mrs. Longworth seemed to be taking it with amused equanimity." Official rebuke, however, was not confined to the anti-New Deal social set.

term inaugural, but his wife, the fabulously wealthy Marjorie Post Hutton Close Davies, breakfast food heiress, can be counted as one of the capital's most elaborate entertainers.

Title of the capital's champion party-giver, however, still must go to Mrs. Evalyn Walsh (Hope Diamond) McLean who, although she has sold the original Friendship mansion to the government, now has taken at least a mansion of at least 20 rooms in fashionable Washington. Her recent inaugural party, or housewarmer, harking back to the splendor of the Harding-Coolidge era, drew the top-ranking officials of both parties, together with suave diplomats and socialites. New Dealers Senator Alben Barkley and Paul V. McNutt were among the throng of guests.

Mrs. Sumner Welles, wife of the undersecretary of state, owns the famous Townsend mansion at 2221 Massachusetts avenue. The Welles couple, however, prefer their baronial estate at Oxon Hill, Md., where they have entertained the president.

At present, the Massachusetts avenue mansion stands vacant, although the stables have been given over to the American Women's Voluntary Service, Inc.

Purely Social

The French chateau of Mrs. Eva Stotesbury, formerly of Philadelphia, is just five blocks from the Davies mansion. Mrs. Stotesbury lives with her son, James R. Cromwell, former husband of Doris Duke, and their elaborate lay-out might be termed "purely social."

The Herbert Hoover home, in the exclusive area is now occupied by Senator and Mrs. Peter Goelet Gerry, Rhode Island Democrats. It seems that they have a few "extra rooms." Mrs. Eleanor (Clisbe) Patterson, publisher of the Washington Times-Herald and sister of Captain Patterson of the New York News, occupies a marble landmark at 13 Dupont Circle, but she has given over several downstairs rooms to war work.

Of course, some of the social meccas of the last war have gone all-out for victory today. The famous Larz Anderson mansion, home of the Society of the Cincinnati (which was first headed by George Washington), is being utilized by the navy, and Mrs. McLean's Massachusetts avenue home known as the Walsh Mansion, now houses Red Cross work.

Presidents' Widows

In the present uproar, two distinguished widows might draw the dental displeasure. Mrs. Wood Wilson, widow of the World War president, occupies a white residence at Twenty-fourth and streets, and Mrs. William "Boss" Taft, widow of the president's chief justice of the supreme court, lives at 2215 Wyoming avenue. The capital isn't really experiencing a "social revolution" or "strong arm" action by the government, but it is something for potential capital visitors or temporary residents to keep in mind. There has been a noticeable decline in certain "big names" around the country who did appear here for "season," and the capital's famous hotel has limited its stay to 10-day periods. The "parasites" already have a mark.

More than $5,000,000 is spent annually by the forest products industry on research and development of new markets and products.

INTO THE TRENCHES FOR VICTORY VEGETABLES

After all danger of frost has passed, the vegetable seedlings can be transplanted into open ground. Before lifting the plants, water them thoroughly several hours before-hand so the soil will adhere to their roots. Do not lift more than can be planted immediately. It is wisest to carry the seed flat out into the garden and lift out one at a time as you plant. It is very important that the fine roots are not subjected to the hot sun and wind for even a few minutes.

Make the holes ample and set the plants a little deeper than they were previously. If the soil is at all dry, set the plant partly, fill with soil and then apply water. Allow it to soak well into the soil. Next, fill around the plant with drier soil and firm it well.

As illustrated in the Garden-Graph, shade the plants from the hot sun with newspaper or shingle tent, or use flower pots. Strawberry boxes are ideal for low plants. On windy days put a stone on top to hold them down.

It is advisable to remove the covering after the sun goes down so that the plants will get full benefit of the evening dew or any rain which may fall.

Plan a Victory Vegetable Garden this year to enable the family to have a better balanced and vitamin-rich diet.

Having a Victory Vegetable Garden means healthy outdoor exercise with plenty of sunshine and fresh air.

Plan to feed the land which is to feed you. Even though good crops can or may be grown without the use of fertilizer, the yield will be considerably smaller than when the land has been nourished.

How Mexico Guards Against Fifth Column

ENSENADA, Mexico (AP)—Ask a Mexican how to get to military offices in any town on this strategic Lower California peninsula and he'll answer suspiciously:

"Are you an American or a German?"

Even when assured the questioner is American, he will listen to the foreign accent carefully and continue: "Where are you from? Are you a spy? What are you doing here, anyway?"

If you can satisfy him, he'll give you directions. Mexican army officers say a fifth column couldn't get anywhere down here as long as everybody is on the lookout for it.

LORENA CARLETON

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

JAMES LYNDON! To Anette, it seemed years since Lois Lyndon's luncheon at the Drake hotel, years since that day of black-pit unhappiness over the indifferent manner of Laurence Peyton. Now she wore his ring, and certainly he was no longer indifferent. Nevertheless, the name Lyndon sent a nerve-racking shudder through her confidence. For one horrible instant, Lois Lyndon's face was as sharply outlined as if she stood before Anette in the cubbyhole dressing room, and her threats, forgotten by Anette during the busy past weeks, buzzed anew.

Quickly the young actress changed into street clothes, a vivid silk print dress and a thin topcoat of fleecy white wool. She put on the extreme little straw hat that Larry had liked so well, then lifted the fresh-pink roses from their basket and wrapped the thorny thick stems in a makeup towel.

To find Lyndon waiting outside the stage door did not surprise Anette at all. She shook hands with him and said, "You look different."

Immediately she solved her own perplexity. "You're so tanned!"

Though it was startling, it improved his appearance greatly, making his hair seem more blond, his eyes more blue and his teeth even whiter. "Why didn't you come in?" the girl asked as they walked toward the street.

He gave her a bashful grin. "Oh, I thought I'd better wait outside. I'm not so good at this stage-door Johnny sort of thing."

"Not so good?" The perky little straw hat dipped significantly toward the roses. "I would not say that. These are my first flowers. Of course I should not admit it. I should pretend I have to kick my way through stacks of orchids to get out of my dressing room. The truth is, there wouldn't be room for flowers, even if I had them, in my two-by-four coop."

Lyndon smiled hesitantly. "Would you like to have something to eat? Lois always said actors eat after the show. And she should know. So I thought if you—"

"I don't care," she interrupted. "I'm hungry. I hope you might—"

"Suddenly he stopped stammering. 'Say! Are you hungry?'"

"Yes," she said with a laugh, "but I'll have to explain to someone before I can go with you." Out of the corner of her eye she had caught sight of Jenny, scowling. She walked to where she stood beside his cab and swiftly explained the situation, then rejoined James Lyndon. "I don't know if he has adopted me, or if I've adopted him, but it's very much like punching a time clock."

Lyndon observed, "He looks as if punching might be his favorite sport."

When they were seated in a small Spanish cafe and had ordered guajolote mole, enchiladas and a salad, Anette asked, "How did you know I was in the show?"

"I didn't," he leaned nearer her as the music and singing of troubadours grew louder. "When I arrived in town, I asked the hotel management what plays were on. I've practically been in exile in Bermuda," he explained hurriedly. "No telephone. No newspapers. Mail only once a week. You see, my mother had to have a real rest introduction. An unlimited number of girls never seem able to manage more than a single date from one man. Volumes have been written on the subject. Charm schools have been set up. Lessons in personality have been given. Still these solitary, who dress well, have good backgrounds and are not morose, sit in desolation and see lonely girls going out and having a good time."

The stay-at-home girl consoles herself by saying the reason for her unpopularity is that she refuses to pet. But that doesn't solve the riddle because the easy petters, while they are likely to enjoy a good deal of brief attention, don't hold up well.

Connoisseur More Selective

Very young lads feel important when they bear the brand of lipstick after a fairly large evening. But the connoisseur is more selective. The girl who is freely kissed gets to be like the old books in a circulating library, which are eventually junked.

The other day I got a letter from a girl who never manages a date. She told me all the usual things: that she had a very good position and that as far as she could see, the only cause of her unpopularity was that she wore glasses. She had trouble making friends, and her acquaintances never invited her to their homes. She felt left out of everything.

She went on to say that she could probably get a "pickup" but, "I'm not of that type. I come from a good family and we have a beautiful home, but it just makes me discouraged to sit at home and see all the rest of the girls go out with their boy friends. I've heard people say that such a girl has an attractive personality. I don't think the most lonesome soldier would look at me. Are my troubles the result of wearing glasses?"

Trouble Not with Glasses

Distinctly, the trouble is not because this girl wears glasses. Smart-looking glasses add piquancy to a good many girls.

If this girl had sent her address, it's possible I could have given her a few suggestions. Her whole letter was revealing, but there was no identification beyond the city in which she lives.

I have a very large collection of letters from dated girls, or the one-date girl who never gets a return engagement. Let's swap Mary Jane's troubles with those of yours, and see if we can't get working basis as to why girls are unpopular. Here's a chance for girls, popular and unpopular, to write in. We'll see what comes.

The Republic of Colombia only country of South America whose shores are washed by the great oceans, the Atlantic and Pacific.

CHAPPED HANDS

Here's Why Scores of Doctors Use Noxzema on Their Own Hands

Doctors must keep their hands smooth, in good condition. Yet, with frequent washings in strong, antiseptic solutions, they have a big problem. That's why a recent survey is so important to you! For it shows that scores of doctors and dentists use MEDICATED Noxzema regularly! A Philadelphia physician says: "Noxzema gives grand and quick results." A Lincoln, Neb. dentist says: "I find Noxzema a great help in keeping my hands in the best of condition."

Why It Brings Quick Relief

Chapped hands are often more than mere roughened, red skin. In severe cases, often the skin becomes so irritated that tiny "cuts" (cracks) develop. That's why Noxzema is so effective. Because this famous medicated cream contains ingredients which, it, quickly soothe the burning, stinging soreness; 2nd, help soften rough, dry skin; 3rd, aid in healing the tiny skin "cuts."

Try It On Special Offer

Prove it to yourself! For a limited time

25¢ JAR ONLY 19¢

THE DAILY STORY

THE OUTCAST

They Called Him a Nuisance around the House—until a Strange Event Showed Them His Soul

By ALICE DRAKE

"Romek!"

Reluctantly he came out of the room buttoning his shirt and looking meekly at his father.

"Ya ain't getting outa this, so take yer leg or I'll thrash ya," his father said threateningly.

Romek Kabudara dropped his head and swallowed.

"Didja hear me?"

Romek nodded his head and slipped back into his room. He was a homely, frail-looking boy who had much to say. He slipped

"Didja Hear Me?"

Romek stumbled and half-fell into the aisle. Someone pushed him forward. Terrified, he turned to lunge for the door, but was pushed again and stood helplessly before the stage, trembling, sweating, his eyes on the floor. The principal helped him up the stairs.

"B-but I can't sing or dance," Romek stammered.

"You can recite something, I bet." After a long moment of silence Romek nodded his head.

"What will it be?"

"A-a poem," he said.

The audience applauded.

"Longfellow—Riley—Shakespeare?"

Another moment of silence. "My own," he finally muttered.

More applause. The principal smiling, sat down and played the organ. "Go ahead," he said, "but raise your head, and turn to the people."

Romek lifted his head slowly, leveled his eyes on the ceiling and began. His words, shaky from the start, unraveled a story of nature. He led his listeners through cities, and farms, and hills that climbed to the clouds and dipped into a valley stream. He painted the woods with leaping rabbits, chattering birds, and animal paths that twisted toward water holes. His voice became soft, musical. People touched handkerchiefs to their eyes.

It was a long time before Romek finished. There was no applause, only the muffled sounds of sobbing. A woman sitting in the front row, who had once warned her own son to stay away from Romek, could not restrain herself and wept out loud. She walked up and embraced him, kissing his hands, cheek and forehead. She wiped her eyes on his shoulder and said, "God bless you, my boy, the world has a great new poet."

A crowd rushed forward and milled around him. And Romek's father, his heart drumming excitedly against his ribs, got up showing all his teeth in a wide smile.

"That's my son, he is. Yes, sir, that's my boy, he is," he was saying proudly to the people around him.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Doris Elizabeth Gross (Chapman) vs. Roy C. Chapman, No. 1502 Equity, in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure an annulment of the marriage of the plaintiff to the defendant, Roy C. Chapman. The Bill states that the parties were married on the 22nd day of February, 1932, in Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, and that at the time of said marriage, the defendant had been previously married to Daisy Winkelman on the 5th day of April, 1928, and that at the time the defendant married the plaintiff, this prior existing marriage between the defendant and Daisy Winkelman had not been annulled nor were these parties divorced; that there were no children born as a result of the marriage ceremony between the plaintiff and the defendant, and that the defendant, Roy C. Chapman, is a resident of the State of Maryland. It is thereupon this 11th day of March, 1942, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 15th day of April, 1942, give notice to the said absent defendant of the object and substance of this Bill, and warning him to appear in this Court in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 29th day of April, 1942, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Another moment of silence. "My own," he finally muttered.

More applause. The principal smiling, sat down and played the organ. "Go ahead," he said, "but raise your head, and turn to the people."

"Ed, please."

"It's time he saw what good nature like Romek!"

The Kabudaras turned out the lights in the house and walked out. People in the school auditorium pushed and shoved until the two hundred seats were occupied. Those standing late formed lines against the walls.

The Kabudara family had come early, sat in the third row.

Ceiling lights went out. Buzzing conversations died away. The curtain was raised.

The school principal appeared and smiled at the applauding audience. He raised his arm. He cleared his throat and began to say what he had been saying every year: that the school was having its annual gathering, and he was happy there so many faces; that talented children, from their own school, would entertain them; that he was proud of being a member of the community, and that he wished every parent would find the evening unforgettable.

For two hours the organ played, and young boys and girls danced, sang, recited Lincoln speeches, mimicked comedians, played musical instruments, told jokes and stories, and the people applauded, and laughed, and clapped for more.

Personal To Fat Girls

Now you may slim down your face and figure without starvation dieting or back-breaking exercises. Just eat Marmola and see Marmola under the conditions and according to directions on the package. Marmola Tablets have been sold to the public for more than thirty years. More than twenty million boxes have been distributed during that period.

Dairy Sires To Be Sold at Minimum Price in W. Va.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 17 (AP)—A plan under which approximately 235 registered baby bull dairy calves will be offered for sale at minimum prices during the coming year of thirty-nine of the leading breeders in the state was announced by Secretary G. Heedink of the state dairymen's association.

The sale plan will make available dairy sires of the five leading breeds found in the state—Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, Guernsey, Holstein and Jersey.

Heedink said the breeds have butterfat records of not less than 300 pounds of butterfat made in not more than 365 days.

Draft Dodger Enlists, Charges Withdrawn

BALTIMORE, March 19 (AP)—Philip Kenner, 31-year-old transient, was in uniform today at Camp Lee, Va., while federal charges against him for failing to register for selective service were dropped.

United States Attorney Bernard J. Flynn recommended the case be dismissed because Kenner, arrested when he sought lodging at a Baltimore police station, had enlisted voluntarily.

Kenner is a native of Providence, R. I., police said.

Service Men Must Pay State Tax in West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 17 (AP)—Soldiers, sailors, marines and officers of the armed services are not exempt from the West Virginia consumers' sales tax when making individual purchases, the state tax department ruled.

The ruling also includes other employees of the federal government. Noble P. Conner, head of the consumers' sales tax division, state tax department, said.

However, items such as hotel bills, when directed to the federal government and paid by some United States agency, are exempt from the tax. Also exempt are bulk purchases by the government.

A navy recruiter in Charleston raised the point by refusing to pay the tax in a downtown restaurant. Conner advised that all service men must pay the tax when making individual purchases or "buying things out of their own pockets."

Australians Must Have Their Tea

MELBOURNE, March 19 (AP)—An American colonel assigned to speed production in a Victoria airplane factory whose output is only three planes a month, observed that the workers lost a half hour going out for their mid-morning tea, and the same time in the afternoon.

"I knew that tea institution couldn't be eliminated," he explained, "so we use an army jeep to bring the stuff into the factory and thus save forty-five minutes of that time."

Sergeant Meets His Brother on Transport

BRISBANE, AUSTRALIA, March 19 (AP)—Shortly before bearding a transport for Australia Sergeant Robert C. Selbert, recently of Selridge Field, Mich., got a letter from his mother in Webster Grove, Mo., saying his younger brother, Richard, had enlisted at St. Louis and had been sent to Sheppard Field, Texas.

A day at sea and strolling the deck, Robert ran into the equally astounded Private Richard.

Priority Is Asked For 100 White Mice

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP)—The War Production Board has received a letter asking whether it would be possible to get priorities on 100 white mice.

The mice must be four to six weeks old and females, said the letter, which came from a university desiring the rodents for research.

WPB officials said they knew of no priority control on the mouse industry.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function persists, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Barton High School Librarian Accepts Post at Aberdeen

Mrs. Kirkpatrick Will Begin New Duties Wednesday

Becomes First Woman of Barton Community To Enter Army Service

BARTON, Mar. 19—Mrs. Mildred Kirkpatrick, librarian at the Barton high school, today accepted appointment as librarian at the camp at Aberdeen, Md., and leave Wednesday morning to her new duties.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick has been librarian at the school for the past several years and is the daughter of the Rev. O. S. Edwards, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

She is chairman of the Barton branch of American Red Cross and a member of many organizations in this community.

During her time as librarian here books have increased from 476 to 1,000 volumes with an annual circulation of 20,000 books and 12,000 figures were mounted for use in the Allegany county schools for the fiscal year.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick attended the Progressive Education Association conference at Atlantic City, N. J., February. She is a member of the American Association and Maryland Association.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick conducts story hour each week in the elementary grades and was the story teller at the Cumberland playgrounds during the summer months.

She is the first woman of this community to enter army duty.

To Attend Church

Members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Barton Hose Co. No. 1 will attend services Sunday evening at the St. Gabriel's Catholic church. The ladies are asked to meet at the firemen's armory at 7:15 p. m.

Personsals

James Perkins, Washington, returned to his home after spending the last several days with his mother, Mrs. Mason Perkins.

Calvin Andrews returned to Carroll, Pa., after visiting friends here.

GOVERNMENT WINS RIGHT TO TAKE LAND IN GARRETT

PITTSBURGH, March 19 (AP)—Federal Judge R. M. Gibson today issued an order authorizing the government to take possession immediately of and title to 72.5 acres of land, comprising the right of way for the Confluence and Oakland branches of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad from Confluence, Pa., to Maryland state line.

The land will be used as part of the site of the Youghiogheny River control reservoir, near Confluence.

The railroad branch extends from Confluence to Kendall, Md. Contention proceedings in the district court in Baltimore have been instituted to take the road's right-of-way in Maryland.

The Maryland Public Service Commission and the McCullough Lumber Company, opposed Mary's action, contending abandonment of the road would deprive the lumber company of shipping facilities.

The government contended immediate possession of the land is needed to avoid a delay in completion of the reservoir.

James C. Miller Is Taken by Death

James Cessna Miller, 94, retired farmer, who lived at Bedford RFD near Centerville, all his life, died Wednesday at the home of his son, George C. Miller. He became ill March 15 and died after a brief illness as the result of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Mr. Miller, a son of the late John and Nancy Ash Miller, married May Rebecca Barefoot, who died thirteen years ago. He was a member of the Bertz Lutheran church.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at the Bertz church by the Rev. M. J. Ross officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery in charge of S. Alton Barnes.

Surviving is one son, George C. Miller, of Bedford RFD.

Walter Swadley Promoted

HEPPARD FIELD, Texas—H. O. Swadley of Beryl, W. Va., promoted March 1 to the rank grade of private first class. He is son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Swadley of Beryl, and attended Mount high Piedmont, W. Va.

Swadley is assigned for duty to the Four Hundred and Twenty-Sixth School Squadron, world's best technical training school for mechanics. His duties are as a cook.

TO SEE PUBLISHERS

Brendan McPeake

Brendan McPeake, managing director of the National Magazine Company and head of William Randolph Hearst's publishing enterprise in England, is pictured above as he arrived in New York via Clipper plane. McPeake will confer with publishers here on measures to be taken to meet restrictions that might be imposed because of war.

Past Chiefs Will Meet on Tuesday

Joseph V. Wright Is New Manager Of Liquor Store

Changes Are Made in Personnel at Keyser Store Recently

KEYSER, W. Va., March 19—In a reshuffling of employees of the state liquor store here, W. C. Pifer, removed last summer as manager, has been returned as cashier-clerk and Joseph V. Wright, chairman of the Mineral County Democratic Executive Committee, has been appointed manager.

The announcement was made in a letter received here this morning from J. Nelson Hicks, Martinsburg, district manager for the West Virginia Liquor Control Commission.

John Long becomes cashier and assistant manager and J. W. Lotzspeich clerk. Both Long and Lotzspeich were already employed in the store.

James Broome resigned as a liquor store employee to take a position in the post office here.

Pifer returned to the store today and Wright will take over the duties of manager on Monday.

Leave for Camp

Nineteen Mineral county men left here today for induction into the army, entraining for Fort Hayes, Ohio, instead of a West Virginia induction center. Today was the first time local selectees were taken directly to an army camp.

The men left at 12:45 on a Baltimore and Ohio train carrying selectees from other points in the eastern section of the state.

Teacher Is Appointed

William R. Cather has been appointed to the faculty of Keyser high school, the Mineral county board of education announced today, taking over classes taught by Coach John Shelton, called for service with the navy.

Cather began in his teaching capacity this afternoon.

To Hold Contest

The American Legion Fifth Annual National high school oratorical contest will be held in the Potomac State school playhouse tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock when high school students from Mineral and adjoining counties will give orations on the subject, "America Carries On."

Legion Celebrates

Two hundred persons were present last night at a banquet given by Keyser's Boyce-Houser Post No. 41, American Legion, at the Legion Memorial Home here in celebration of the twenty-third anniversary of the founding of the organization.

Dean Kirkland S. McKee of Potomac State school, a veteran of World War I, was principal speaker on a program that followed the turkey dinner, addressing the Legionnaires and their wives and members of the Auxiliary, the Junior Auxiliary and the Sons of the Legion on criticisms of the government and the army's conduct of the war. Criticisms heard today, he said, are almost identical to the same as those heard during every war in which this country has been involved, from the Revolution down to the present. Despite all criticism, McKee stated, democracy has advanced with each war, and will continue to advance.

Other talks were made by Attorney and Mrs. Vernon E. Rankin, and three selections, "Caisson Song," "Throw Another Log on the Fire," and "Facing the World" were sung by the West Virginia Legionnaires.

At the conclusion of the program, presided over by Jennings Pazenbaker, post commander, Mrs. Frank Mauzy, Auxiliary president, presented the Legion with a large birthday cake.

Last night's celebration was the first public affair held in the Legion home since its recent remodeling.

Announce Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. I. F. Clark, McCoole, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Naomi B. Clark, to Robert Edgar May, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar May, Maysville.

The ceremony was performed Monday in Winchester by the Rev. T. M. Swann, pastor of Winchester Methodist church.

Attendants were Miss Mildred Thrasher, Keyser, and Herman Garlitz, Cresaptown.

Mrs. May, a graduate of Bruce high school, Westernport, is employed by the Celanese Corporation of America.

Mr. May is a graduate of Petersburg high school. He is employed in Maysville.

Personsals

Mrs. H. W. Wolfe returned from Baltimore where she visited her sons, Joseph and Herbert Wolfe.

Jackie Flood, Washington, is visiting at the home here of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Greenholt, West Piedmont street.

Mrs. E. C. Grove and daughter, Sue, returned to Pittsburgh after visiting at the home here of Mrs. W. W. Woodard, Orchard street.

The word slave originally referred to Slaves taken by Germans in war.

The 1940 census reported a total of 6,096,799 farms.

QUESTIONED ON WIFE'S DEATH

Mrs. Jane Dobinsky (right), 21, was found dead in bed in a Chicago rooming house. A superficial examination by a coroner's physician disclosed that she was not strangled or suffocated and there were no marks on her body.

Her husband, Peter Dobinsky (left), 21, is being questioned. He had been granted an interlocutory divorce decree in Denver last summer, police said, but a reconciliation followed and the couple returned to Chicago three months ago to make a fresh start.

Homemakers Club Hears Address On Defense

FRIENDSVILLE, March 19—Mrs. George Seabold was hostess to the Hoyes Homemakers Club at her home Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. W. DeWitt was in charge of the business session. Mrs. Robert DeWitt gave a report on "Defense of Our Democracy." Miss Mary Lee Long, home demonstration agent, succeeded Mrs. Robert Hoffman, presented a demonstration on "Work Shoes, Hose, and Cotton Garments."

Members present included: Miss Ada Leighton, Mrs. Mary Jo Turney, Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle, Mrs. Jeff Dell, Mrs. Leonard Haefling and Mrs. Glenn Humberston. The next meeting is scheduled to be held April 21.

Examination Will Be Conducted on First Aid Work

Bureau of Mines Assistant Will Be in Frostburg Friday

FROSTBURG, March 19—Patrick Loughney, Pittsburgh, assistant to N. M. Muir of the United States Bureau of Mines will conduct an examination Friday, 6 p. m., for the classes to take the first aid course at the community building, Middlethian. He will also conduct examinations at 8 p. m. in Firemen's hall, Borden Shaft.

L. N. Muir will examine first aid students 6 p. m. at Wellersburg, Pa., and the Frostburg postoffice class, 8:30 p. m., on the third floor of Firemen's hall.

Examinations will be held Saturday, 2 p. m., for the Eckhart and Fort Ashby, W. Va., classes, by Mr. Muir. At the same hour, Loughney will be at the Barton school to conduct examinations for the women's class taught by Wilbur Hyde. He will be at Midland at 7 p. m., to examine classes there.

Muir urges that all persons desiring to take first aid instruction to make application within the next two weeks, as the courses will be terminated after that date. So far, 2,750 men and women and boys have taken first aid courses under the direction of the Frostburg Control center.

Stock Prices Close Slightly Off In Dullest Trading Since June

List Does Fairly Well at Start, but Declines near Close

By BERNARD S. O'HARA

NEW YORK, March 19 (AP)—The stock market displayed faint signs of recovery here and there today but the general course of prices was downward.

MacArthur optimism continued to prop boardroom sentiment but further skepticism about taxes, labor and maintained dividends served to limit bids in most cases and inspire mild selling.

The list did fairly well at the start. Dealings soon faltered along with trends and, at the close, fractional declines were in the majority.

Only 274,800 Shares Traded

Transfers of 274,800 shares compared with 335,780 yesterday and were the smallest for a full session since last June.

Chemicals were depressed by the thought mounting taxes and other costs might hit payments to shareholders. Dow Chemical was off 4 points, a new low for the year.

Allied Chemical and Eastman Kodak lost 1 and 2, respectively.

Steels, motors, rails, rubber and aircrafts did little either way. Slightly in arrears were Chesapeake & Ohio, Southern Pacific, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber, Anaconda, American Telephone, Westinghouse, Texas Co. and Air Reduction.

On the advancing side were Pennsylvania, U. S. Steel, Goodyear, Lehigh Valley Coal preferred, John-Manville, Sperry, International Harvester and Standard Oil (N.J.).

Curb Irregular

In a mixed curb plus signs were posted for American Gas, Aluminum of America, Gulf Oil, Humble Oil and Mead Johnson. A trifle under water were Brewster Aero, Bell Aircraft, Lake Shore and International Petroleum. American Cyanamid conceded 1 1/2 points. Volume here was around 73,000 shares versus 76,000 Wednesday.

All sections of the bond market averaged higher with gains of fractions to around a point or more in a moderate sized group of rails and specialties attracting special attention.

FACE DEATH AS AXIS SPIES

Richard Friederich Freundt (left), a naturalized citizen, who helped design United States battleships, and Pvt. Peter Franz Erich Donay (right), 32, alien assigned to Governors Island, are shown after they pleaded guilty in a New York federal court to wartime espionage. Both men, first to be arrested on spy charges since United States entry into the war, were charged with sending military information to Germany by invisible ink messages. The charge carries a possible death penalty.

Jealousy Having National Field Day Due to War

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX, Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage—Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Letters come to me in every mail, asking how to overcome jealousy. A soldier writes: "Jealousy is poisoning my whole life. I'm going with a girl who says she will marry me, but she insists on dating other boys. It burns me up."

My young friend seems to think jealousy is a poisoned arrow which the fates have reserved especially for him alone. He should realize that jealousy is more prevalent than the common cold and, like the common cold, few escape it.

The human being is essentially a jealous animal. If you will study even infants you can see how they resent any fancied kindness shown to a brother or sister. We are, if anything, more bitterly jealous during school age, and the stigma of being "teachers' pet" often has been seeds of unpopularity which look years to live down.

War Brings Increase

Next comes high school or party age with its bitter jealousies about popularity, partners, invitations and dates. Life is gall and wormwood if these things are denied. Letters from boys and girls—sophomores and seniors—are sometimes absolutely tragic. And all because the writers have not been asked to join some club or go to some party.

It's too bad that youth should taste its glamorous inheritance in grieving over something that in later life will seem so utterly unimportant. Jealousy, psychologists tell us, is a form of fear—fear of being deprived of something we wish to possess. Not flattering to yourself, is it, to be a victim of the green-eyed monster?

The first step toward freedom from this blight is to have greater confidence in yourself, in your own powers to hold your beloved. You need courage—the same brand of courage that overcame your fear of going into a dark room when you were a child.

At the moment, because of the war, jealousy seems to be having a national field day. The young wife whose husband goes marching off sees through her tears a succession of camps waiting for him. Equally miserable is the soldier, too proud to tell his girl not to go out with other men while he's away.

Patience Is Required

A young friend in the navy writes: "If I didn't love this girl so deeply I wouldn't be jealous of every man who looks at her."

I tell him you can't own a human being as you own a dog. Even a dog which is watched and chained will make the first break for freedom which offers itself.

Men and women who are watched constantly and whose every action is seen through the distorted vision of jealousy are apt to find hatred rather than love in their hearts. They resent the indignity of being constantly spied upon and accused of things of which they are guiltless.

The cure? It is so simple that it is almost universally overlooked. Patience on the part of the beloved and willingness to explain away how groundless are those fears.

Stepfather Has Changed

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

My first husband died about fourteen years ago and left me with two little girls. Eleven years ago I remarried, while my new husband was very strict, he was always very good to my little girls, which I appreciated. Their ages are 15 and 17.

The other day my two girls played truant from school and visited some friends in the country. They couldn't get home before dark, so our friends asked them to stay overnight, which they did. As there was no way to get word to me, I was very much worried. However, they were not with boys and did no wrong, but my husband seems to hold this against them. He doesn't trust them out of his sight. I think he's wrong because they have learned a lesson and won't do such a thing again.

And now my brother-in-law and his wife are making life miserable for me, saying they have been disgraced by what my girls did. I'm sure my girls are good. The oldest one wants to quit school and get a job. They have never caused me a bit of worry, and are very helpful around the house. Thank you kindly for any help.

WORRIED

Of course, it wasn't the right thing for the girls to go off without asking your permission. But inasmuch as they have given a satisfactory explanation for not being able to return home it seems to me that their stepfather might forgive and forget.

As for the in-law who thinks the girls have disgraced the family name, he seems to be one of those people who enjoys making a mountain out of a mole-hill. As the girls have always been creditable to the family, to my way of thinking the incident had better be closed.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Edwin Campbell Weds Lonaconing Girl in Virginia

Takes Miss Dorothy Elizabeth Wright as Bride February 25

LONAICONING, March 19.—Mrs. U. S. Wright, East Main street, announces the marriage of her daughter, Dorothy Elizabeth Wright, to Edwin Campbell Marotte, near Cranston, Pa. The ceremony was performed Wednesday, February 25 at the Methodist parsonage in Winchester, Va., by the Rev. T. R. Brown.

The bride is a graduate of Central high school, 1936, and of Dickinson college, 1940. For the last two years she has been a member of the family of the Oakland high school. Mr. Marotte is also a graduate of Dickinson college and for the last year and a half he attended Dickinson Law School.

Mrs. Marotte's father, the late Rev. U. S. Wright, was at one time minister of the local Methodist church.

Firemen Meet

A communication from the state fire co-ordinator, J. W. Just, College Park, to county co-ordinator, Felix Poole, Sr., was discussed at the meeting of the Goodwill fire company No. 1, last night. It dealt with "War Time Brush and Forest Fires." This instruction is part of the National defense program and is endorsed by the Maryland Council of Defense.

Students Buy Stamps

Students of the Central high school have to date purchased a total of $2,595.48 in defense stamps. Two teams, the Orange and the Black, were formed some time ago and the total for each team was $1,297.95 for the Orange and $1,297.53 for the Black.

The entire school is divided into such teams. Each room has two teams which vie for purchasing honors. The room totals make up the general Orange and Black teams.

To Present Play

Sponsored by the Central high school Parent-Teacher association, "Poor Little Rich Girl," a presentation of the Clare Tree Major theater company, will be given at the local school Tuesday afternoon at 1:30, March 31, for the benefit of the Parent-Teacher association of Allegheny county.

In recent years a large number of students have attended these shows and they have been highly recommended. This is the first performance given at Central by this production company. In the past, pupils from Central Jackson, Rockville, Detmold and Barton have journeyed by bus to either Bruce or Fort Hill to see these shows.

Tickets have been distributed to the various rooms at the local school for the students to sell. Similar performances will be given at Beall, Fort Hill and Bruce earlier in the week.

To Honor Team

A banquet in honor of the Central high school Tigers basketball team was given tonight at the New Century hotel, Romney, Va., by the principal, Arthur P. Smith.

Mrs. Arthur P. Smith, an ardent supporter of the boys, gave a short talk, while other speeches were given by Coach Mel Henry, and "Zeke" Main, captain of the Tiger squad. Several other guests also spoke.

Guests present included Gene Gunning, sports editor of the Evening Times, and Mrs. Gunning, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Fields, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Henry, William Main, Calvin James, John Muter, Jack Getty, Robert Johnson, Richard Dean, Pat Doolan, Charles Robertson, Charles Robertson, Charles Miller and Robert Raistorn.

Earl Kelly, manager, and John Hohing, scene keeper, also attended. The party left here in private cars at 5:30 p. m. The banquet was served at 6:30 p. m.

To Plan Course

H. A. Lasher, Cresaptown defense co-ordinator, announced last evening that a meeting for women of the Cresaptown section would be held in the fire house this evening at 7 o'clock. Women interested in taking a course in combating incendiary bombs and poisonous gases are requested to be present and aid in the formation of the course.

16 Soil Conservation Communities Are Established in Garrett County

Elections Will Be Held in Several Sections Next Week

OAKLAND, Md., March 12.—Emergency conditions have made it necessary to establish sixteen soil conservation communities in the county, according to an announcement today by John H. Carter, county agent. These sixteen will replace the original four communities used in previous years, he said.

The communities have been established and it is necessary to elect a community committee, alternates and a voting delegate for each community. The voting delegates will then meet to elect a county committee whose responsibility it will be to administer the three-A program in Garrett county. The community committees will also assist the county committee and carry out the three-A program by making farm to farm contacts as well as checking performance of farms participating in the program which was formerly done by field supervisors, Mr. Carter pointed out.

Meetings have been scheduled next week when elections will be held, all at 8 p. m.

Monday, March 23.—Communities B and C, election district 2, Friendsville high school; communities O and P, district 14, Oakland, county agent's office; community L, districts 9 and 15, Avilton school.

Tuesday, March 24.—Community M, districts 10 and 13, Deer Park school; community F, districts 4 and 11, Bloomington school; community G, district 5, Accident high school.

Wednesday, March 25.—Communities D and E, district 3, Grantsville high school; community H, district 6, Sang Run school; community A, district 1, Swanton school.

Thursday, March 26.—Community K, district 12, Bittersburg school; communities J and K, district 8, Sunnyside Grange Hall; community I, districts 7 and 16, Pleasant Valley Grange Hall.

Carter pointed out that the committees should be willing to serve and that it required the careful thought of all in nominating parties in the various communities in whom people would have confidence to this type of work.

ARMY DESERTER TRIES TO ESCAPE

Michael Adio, 25, a deserter in the United States Army, who was being taken back to Fort Knox, Ky., from New York, by Sgt. D. H. Lassiter, made a desperate effort to escape when he jumped from the National Limited train at Altamont, but was picked up the following day by county officers.

The sergeant and his prisoner were returning from Fort Jay, New York, to Camp Knox, and when the limited slowed down at Altamont to release the helper engine, the two were passing from one car to another at the time. Adio quickly pulled the car door shut with the sergeant on the inside and then with the other opened the door above the car steps and jumped out.

The sergeant, detained at Terra Alta and notified Sheriff J. W. Owens and Corral Thomas Currie, of the state police, at Oakland.

The following day they picked up a clue and arrested Adio on the Deer Park-Sand Flat highway, a short time after he had hitchhiked a ride with a passing motorist. The sergeant and his prisoner then continued their journey to Kentucky yesterday afternoon where Adio was to be turned over to authorities.

Nathaniel Harvey Dies

Nathaniel Boyd Harvey died at his home near Eagle Rock Tuesday, March 17, after an illness of about six months. He was born in this county October 31, 1876, and was aged 66 years. He was a son of the late James W. and Elizabeth Harvey.

Surviving are his widow, who was Bertie Lipscomb; four children, Mabel Evans, Vindex; Alma Evans, Kitzmiller; Paul Harvey and Carl Harvey, at home; four grandchildren; also one sister, Mrs. Carrie Harvey, Swanton; four brothers, Dorsey Harvey, Crellin; Tilden Harvey, Deer Park; William Harvey, Kitzmiller; Edward Harvey, Sand Flat.

He was a member of the Kitzmiller Methodist church. Funeral services were conducted this afternoon from the Methodist church at Deer Park with Rev. J. E. Johnson, Oakland, officiating. Interment was in the Deer Park cemetery.

LOCAL 1874 PLEDGES SUPPORT TO CONLON IN WAR EFFORT

Complete support in any undertaking he may assume for the purpose of aiding our national war effort is pledged to Mayor-elect Thomas F. Conlon by Celanese Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, in a letter received last evening from George A. Meyers, president.

"May we urge that a civilian defense council for the City of Cumberland be established in order that the civilian defense effort may be further expanded," Meyers wrote.

"May we further urge that you, as mayor, continue and extend efforts being made to convert all possible machinery and manpower in Western Maryland, ide or otherwise, in the production of materials necessary to sustain our present offensive campaign instituted by our commander-in-chief, President Franklin D. Roosevelt," Meyers added.

Girl Scouts Are Community Link, Speaker Declares

Miss Alice Mulkey Addresses 100 Guests at Anniversary Dinner

The Girl Scouts as a link in the community life supplementing the church, school and home was stressed by Miss Alice Mulkey, New York city, in her talk on "Girl Scouting and War Defense" at the thirty-third anniversary dinner of the Y.M.C.A. The program the organization already has established which will serve in this emergency involves a code of ethics, straight thinking, honesty and self reliance as well as a democratic way of living and the opportunity to learn youthful and enjoyable skills, she told her audience.

The speaker outlined as phases of the scouting, the recreational activities; the educational; inspirational, laws and pledge; and self governing, which gives each child an opportunity to participate in group activities and share its responsibilities, providing a balanced life of health of body and mind.

In speaking of the adults' responsibilities, Miss Mulkey urged them to work more closely together and to be articulate about the program; to see that a normal vein of living is continued; to co-operate so that the scout program fits into the community program. Above all she urged that Girl Scouts should accept the challenge thrown out by Germany, declaring that "Hitler is educating his youth for death and for life and that Girl Scouts contribute to this ideal."

Approximately 100 guests, including representatives from civic organizations, and the entire council, attended the affair. The yellow and green color scheme was carried out in the table decorations of jonquils and snapdragons and green candles.

Mrs. Morris Barnes extended the greetings and Mrs. Robert R. Henderson asked the blessing.

The program was presented by members of Brownie troop No. 33, intermediate troop No. 4; and a fashion show preview by Dorothy Doolittle, Patricia Dumire, Betsy Freeman, Shirley Brode, Norma Cole, Joan Radcliffe and Rita Milson, announcer, of senior troop No. 14; under the direction of Miss Florence Ann Schlott, executive secretary.

Lower Standards For Induction Are Announced

State's Manpower Supply To Armed Forces Will Be Increased

Col. Henry S. Stanwood, state director of Selective Service, announced yesterday that recent changes in the teeth and eye requirements for induction into the United States Army, will substantially increase the manpower contribution of the State of Maryland to the nation's fighting forces.

Many Selective Service registrants who were deferred under the old Army standards will be able to qualify for full or limited military service under the new ones, Colonel Stanwood declared.

Registrants rejected because of physical conditions, approximately 20 percent were disqualified by former physical tests because of the then stipulated dental requirements and about 14 percent were unable to qualify because of eye defects. Many of these men now can be inducted for full or limited military service.

Formerly, the director pointed out, the Army required that an inductee have a minimum of six masticating and six incisor teeth, 3 masticating opposing 3 masticating, and 3 incisors opposing 3 incisors. The new dental requirement is merely ability to eat and digest Army "chow."

Married or single men who have not reached their forty-fifth birthday can now enlist in the United States Army if they do not have any dependents, according to orders received yesterday by Staff Sgt. Clarence Biehn, local recruiter.

Previously, the enlistment age limits were 18 to 35, and only ex-service men beyond the 35-year limit were accepted. Under the new ruling, any man who has passed his eighteenth birthday, but has not reached his forty-fifth, is acceptable.

Married or single men who have not reached their forty-fifth birthday can now enlist in the United States Army if they do not have any dependents, according to orders received yesterday by Staff Sgt. Clarence Biehn, local recruiter.

Previously, the enlistment age limits were 18 to 35, and only ex-service men beyond the 35-year limit were accepted. Under the new ruling, any man who has passed his eighteenth birthday, but has not reached his forty-fifth, is acceptable.

O'Connor Asks Work Maryland Day
BALTIMORE, Md., March 19 (AP)—Governor O'Connor has asked Maryland industries to observe Maryland day next Wednesday "by working on a normal schedule." Wednesday is a state holiday, O'Connor said, state offices would remain "open. Banks and courts, however, may have to close," he added.
"In view of the dire situation and the need for continued production," the governor said, "everything possible to avoid cessation of work is essential."
He added that the War Production Board had indicated its approval of his request that state industries continue to function next Wednesday.

Water Companies To Get New Rules
BALTIMORE, March 19 (AP)—After a hearing on new regulations for water companies in Maryland, the Public Service Commission said that it would study comment on the regulations and then issue a revised set of rules.
The new regulations were promulgated to supersede rules in effect in Maryland since March 7, 1916. The new rules were explained at the hearing by Paul L. Holland, PSC chief engineer. He said they would bring the regulations up to modern standards.
The Potomac Edison Company, serving customers in Braddock Heights and the Maryland Waterworks Company, serving Bel Air, Westminster, Ellicott City and Wiltoughby Beach, were the only utilities represented at the hearing.
Wood is being used in Switzerland for the manufacture of artificial wool because of shortage of the natural fiber, the department of Commerce reports.

American Slang Baffles the British
LONDON, March 19 (AP)—American slang, which always has enchanted the British, has baffled them again.
The British Press Association gave British newspapers this version of the transatlantic tongue in reporting the menu of U. S. troops in northern Ireland:
"Bacon and eggs, known as flapjacks, have been scarce but they will now be a regular feature of the morning diet."
Soap bars manufactured in Mexico have been reduced in size because of rising prices of raw materials, according to the department of Commerce.

Junior Life Saver
COLUSA, Calif. (AP)—Nine-year-old Tommy Stain took his mother's first aid lessons seriously, and used them when his sister, Johnetta, 4, fell and cut her arm seriously. Physicians said his prompt treatment of the wound prevented loss of blood and possibly serious complications.

Gene Tierney Has First Modern Role

Gene Tierney took the long way round to achieve the role she was most obviously suited for in films. The charming Twentieth Century-Fox star who is to be seen in "Rings On Her Fingers" when it opens today at the Strand theatre, has at last reached her goal.

As a debutante in New York, Gene started her career in a play called "Mrs. O'Brien Entertains," where she played the role of an Irish lassie of the nineteenth century. After a brief excursion with "Ring Two," Gene switched into "The Male Animal," where the part of a small town girl kept her working for several months.

Following her experience in the last play, Twentieth Century-Fox signed her to a contract. But did they give her any young modern roles—No!

There was "Hudson's Bay," "The Return of Frank James," "Tobacco Road," "Belle Starr," and then "Sundown" and "The Shanghai Gesture," which she made for outside companies. In each of these films, which incidentally were very big at the box office, La Tierney appeared in gowns of the period. Though she was good, she still felt that she might do better in modern clothes.

But with "Rings On Her Fingers," she comes into her own. Gowns, glamour, palm trees, swank hotels—all the activities associated with the life of society glamour girl are Gene's for the taking and she makes the most of her part. It's made to order for the blue-eyed miss and Gene feels more at home than in any of her previous characterizations.

Kay Francis Plays Glamorous Mother

Motherhood is a wonderful institution, but Kay Francis, who doesn't even have an adopted child to call her "mama," says it's also turned out to be a lucrative career.

Right now Kay is playing mother to fifteen-year-old Gloria Warren in "Always in My Heart," now showing at the Liberty theatre, the new picture which serves to bring back Miss Francis to the Warner lot, scene of her former triumphs.

Luckily for her, Gloria is still too young to think about boy friends, because she might soon notice that mother is one of the attractions that's keeping the boys interested.

Miss Francis regards the maternal turn her career has taken as nothing at all unusual.

PLAINTIFF VS. DEFENDANT

Melvyn Douglas acts as his own lawyer in the divorce case of Shearer vs. Douglas in "We Were Dancing," frothy comedy-drama currently appearing on the Maryland screen. Here Douglas is pleading with Norma to admit her love for him. It doesn't work in the divorce court, but he wins her back before the final fadeout.

Norma Returns To Light Comedy Role

Norma Shearer returns to comedy, the medium which made her famous, in "We Were Dancing," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film which is now showing at the Maryland theatre.

Melvyn Douglas appears opposite her, and the supporting cast was chosen for its ability to make people laugh. Among the players are Gail Patrick, Lee Bowman, Marjorie Main, Reginald Owen, Alan Mowbray and Florence Bates, with Robert Z. Leonard directing.

The picture is based in part on Noel Coward's Broadway comedy hit, "Tonight at 8:30," starring Gertrude Lawrence. Miss Shearer scored one of her early triumphs in Coward's "Private Lives," in which she also played the role created by Miss Lawrence.

The new role reveals Miss Shearer as a charming daughter of noble aristocracy as penitence as she is beautiful. Douglas is equally high born and just as broke. They fall in love on sight and she lifts the rich American lawyer, played by Bowman, whose fortune would have brought her family jewels out of hock.

Gargan Has Title Role in Embassy Film

With William Gargan in the title role, Columbia's "A Close Call For Ellery Queen" yesterday supplied Embassy theatre audiences with a suspenseful edge-of-the-seat thriller jam-packed with mystery, mirth and murder. The suave sleuth of fiction and screen fame is here confronted with a varied assortment of clue-less crimes, including a triple homicide, blackmail, and the mysterious disappearance of some $50,000 in bank bills.

Contributing to the excitement are Margaret Lindsay, who again is seen delightfully as Nikki Porter, Queen's lovely young secretary, whose manhunting efforts are directed at either Ellery or at criminals; Charles Grapewin, as Inspector Queen, Ellery's policeman-

"Rookies on Parade," a gay musical starring Bob Crosby and his Bob Cats, Marie Wilson and Ruth Terry.

Keyser Slumps in Last Half To Lose 33-25

Led Clarksburg Until Midway Of Last Quarter

Coffman, Wash-Irving Forward, Dumps in Fourteen Points in Last Half

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., March 19.—Keyser high school's Golden Tornado basketball team "had no excuses" here tonight when it allowed the Washington-Irving high team, of Clarksburg, to go ahead in the last quarter for a 33 to 25 victory in Class A competition of West Virginia's Region 2 scholastic tourney.

In the first quarter both teams scored six points and appeared to be "sparring" for an opening. Keyser, with Davis scoring several baskets, went into a fifteen to nine lead as the half ended. The Mineral countians appeared to be off their shooting despite their lead.

Clarksburg outscored them ten points to seven in the third period and many shots were missed by the heretofore accurate Keyser cagers. Shortly after the last and deciding quarter opened the Washington-Irving cagers with Coffman, a forward leading the way, went into a one-point lead at 24 to 23.

Keyser was never able to go on the offensive and as the gun went off they had been defeated by eight points. Sportswriters of the Clarksburg papers said Keyser "really should have won the game" as they were the better team in ball-handling and defensive play but evidently experienced a slump after the season's long string of victories. The boxscore:

KEYSER	G.	F.	Pts.
Dorsey, F.	1	1	2

TOLEDO FIVE BEATS RHODE ISLAND 82-71

NEW YORK, March 19 (AP)—Breaking all Madison Square Garden scoring records, Toledo beat Rhode Island State at its run and shoot style of ball tonight, winning 82 to 71 to enter the semi-finals of the National Invitation Basketball tournament.

With Bob Gerber, bespectacled and bemousted dead-eye dick, dropping in 17 field goals and three free throws for a total of 37 points,

Yale Swimmers May Sweep Meet

Eli Aquatic Stars Are Undeclared in Dual Matches

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 19 (AP)—The big question tonight on the eve of the Eastern Intercollegiate League's annual individual championships was whether Yale's crack swimmers could sweep the two day program.

Even before the first splash, the squad developed by Coach Bob Kip-huth, which beat powerful Michigan and went undefeated in dual competition this season, was being conceded nine of the eleven crowns by experts, one more than it won last year at Annapolis.

The only events standing between Yale and a monopoly are the fifty-yard free style and the 200-yard breast stroke, and should John Meyer of Greenwich, the Blues ace at the latter distance finish a thesis in time, he might narrow the doubt down to the short dash.

Sixteen colleges represented by more than ninety of their best swimmers and divers are entered—Army, Brooklyn, Columbia, Cornell, Concord (West Va.) State Teachers, Dartmouth, Harvard, Loyola (Baltimore), Massachusetts State, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Rutgers, Springfield, Syracuse and Yale.

Titles to be decided Friday are the fifty-yard and 220-yard free style, 150-yard back stroke, one-meter dive and the 300-yard medley relay.

The Ohioans earned the right to meet West Virginia Monday before a crowd of 17,860.

Western Kentucky State won the other semi-final bracket against Creighton with a 49-46 decision over City College in the opener.

Gerber's great exhibition of shooting broke the Garden individual scoring record by three points. Toledo's point total was an all-time high as were its 36 field goals.

The game was a rip snorter from the start with the lead changing hands so fast that the score keepers had a hard time keeping up with the play. Leading 30-29 with five minutes to go in the first half, Toledo broke loose with a sustained attack that gave the rockets a 44-31 lead at the intermission.

Toledo lost its great captain, Bart Quinn, in four minutes after the starting of the final period after he had counted 18 points and Rhode Island closed in to nine points. That was as close as the New Englanders got although Bill Rutledge piled up 26 points and Stutz Modzelewski 16 before being charged with his fourth personal foul with eight minutes to go.

SAVE IT FOR LOUIS, ABIE

Nope, Algernon, this isn't that boogey man you've always been afraid to meet in the dark. It's the fighting pan of one Abraham Simon, who somehow or other has been matched to meet Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis again in a title bout in New York, March 27. Simon stayed thirteen rounds with Louis in Detroit the last time out, before being floored for good.

Pirates Release Brandt to Leafs

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., March 19.—Manager Frank Frisch was seriously involved shaking down his squad today, releasing Pitcher Bill Brandt as the Pirates showed new spirit by winning their third straight exhibition game. The Bucs downed Sacramento, 3-2. Young Brandt, who won 15 games for Harrisburg last year, went to Toronto in the International League.

Dodgers and Cardinals

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—For month after month last year the Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals were stepping on each other's toes, getting in each other's hair, both sick of the sight of each other as they kept head and head. This lasted from April to late September. Looking at a Cardinal was no treat to a Dodger and the vice-versa aspect was doubled and redoubled.

Now for the first time during the training season for the new campaign, they were dumped into the same pit at St. Petersburg on Thursday, giving out glare for glare. And there seems to be a general feeling in this balmy atmosphere that the Dodgers and Cardinals will fight it out again and possibly keep neck and neck most of the long, steamy route.

Messrs. MacPhail and Durocher believe they have bolstered their Dodgers sufficiently to win again. Against this Messrs. Bredon and Southworth are even more confident they have a squad good enough to chase the Dodgers from Flatbush to the Barren Lands.

The MacPhail-Durocher ensemble, using more strident vocal chords, tell you that the Dodger punch will turn that Cardinal pitching staff into a pile of debris.

"We have enough good pitching, too," Durocher says. "And the Cardinals certainly have no hitters to match Reber, Camilli, Vaughan, Medwick and a few others we have on hand. We know they are a tough club to best, but not quite tough enough."

Sam Bredon is even more positive than Southworth is that MacPhail and Durocher are both on the edge of a bad dream. And they can be right when you watch these Cardinals at work.

The Redbirds have at least seven high-grade starting pitchers, and they have four or five others who can be almost as good. Day by day the Cardinals should get more consistent pitching than the Dodgers can offer, even with Whit Wyatt right and ready.

But that isn't all. Southworth has a fast, smart infield and one of the best outfields in the league. Such fellows as Cresspi, Terry Moore, Hopp, Brown, Marlon, Musial, and Slaughter are ball players—keen, alert speedy of foot, with a pretty fair share of punch. They'll be waving leather dusters at the plate when the season starts.

Both teams run high on spirit. Durocher and Southworth are stout believers in the old college try, the (Continued on Page 24, Col. 1)

War Does Not Bother Huntin' Sport in South

Sports Writer Describes Excitement When Dogs Strike a Scent

By IRA WOLFERT

North American Newspaper Alliance

In the South's back country where the air is so soft and heavy with fragrance that a bat cracking a ball seems to gulp and make a thick sound like a bullfrog's hiccup what the war will do to sports is argued only to make time pass.

In Miami, where horse and dog races, golfers, ball magnets and boxing industrialists trample each other up and down the causeway, this argument about what the war will do to sports is torpedoed and real and packs the atmosphere with worryment. Those fellows, despite their white pants, look like a convention of auto salesmen.

Class B. Champs At Ridgeley Drop Game 52 to 32

Mineral County Entry Loses in First Round at Clarksburg

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., March 19 (AP)—Piedmont winners of the Class B tournament at Ridgeley last week tied after playing fine ball in the first half here tonight and fell before Glenville, last year's Class B champions 52 to 32.

The mineral county entry took a 10 to 5 lead in the first quarter and held a 19 to 13 lead at one point in the second period but Glenville tied the score at 21-21 as the first half ended.

The last year's champs from Glenville county, staged a brilliant rally in the third quarter which gave them a ten point lead, 36-26 at the end of the third quarter and ran wild in the fourth period 16 points to 6 for Piedmont.

Wright, Glenville guard was the leading scorer of the game making seven field goals and a foul for a total of 13 points. He was closely followed by Robert Whiting with 12 points.

Ambrose, Piedmont guard was by far the outstanding player for the losers, leading his team in scoring with four field goals and three fouls for a total of eleven points. He also played a fine floor game breaking up many Glenville drives toward the Piedmont goal. Boyce with eight and Dick with five points were the other leading scorers for Piedmont.

Track Operators Form Association

Hialeah Park President Elected Head of New Group

CHICAGO, March 19 (AP)—Formation of a National Association of Race Track Operators, which had failed to materialize after all previous attempts, came today as the first apparent result of the three-day meeting of the American Racing Congress.

The congress, significant because it has gathered together for the first time representatives of all branches of the racing industry, held its opening session this morning. Separate sessions of track operators, breeders, commissionaires, and owners, jockeys and trainers were conducted this afternoon.

The meeting was called by Beverly Brown, president of the National Association of State Racing Commissionaires, to consider the industry's war-born problems and obligations. Recommendations of the various groups on how the sport may best contribute to the nation's war effort were to be reported to the general session tomorrow.

John C. Clark of Hialeah Park was elected president of the new Track Operators' Association, which will be known formally as the Thoroughbred Racing Associations of the United States.

Questions as to what steps the new association might take before the end of the congress were left unanswered as hotel huddles among the representatives of the twenty-two tracks in attendance continued.

Before the congress convened, it had been intimated the operators would band together to pledge a cash donation to defense organizations. Estimates of the amount that the tracks might subscribe ran from one million to two million dollars, but no action has been taken on any such proposals.

Four of Favored Teams Defeated In Golf Tourney

National Amateur-Pro Championships See Big Guns Blasting

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 19 (AP)—The big guns got unlimbered in the National Amateur-Professional Golf Championship today and four of the favored teams had been eliminated when first-round results were in.

Invited teams headed by Lloyd Mangrum, Denny Shute, and Ralph Guldahl, all of Chicago, and Lawson Little of Monterey, Calif., were among the vanquished, while other favored combines were hard-pressed to reach tomorrow's second round.

The toughest break of the day fell to Mangrum and Morton Bright, his amateur partner from Atlanta. In their match with Ky Laffoon, Chicago, and Carl Dann, Orlando, Fla., the score stood all even teeing off for the seventeenth.

In playing his second shot out of the woods, Laffoon's ball hit a tree, bounced off and struck Bright's caddy. It was ruled that Bright and Mangrum were disqualified and the hole went to their opponents.

Bright squared the match on the eighteenth but on the first extra hole Laffoon sank a sizeable putt to give his side a one-up victory.

The best shot of the day was pulled by Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., who teamed with Sam Bates, Virginia Beach, Va., to defeat Dick Heinken, Noblesville, Ind., and Dick Doeschler, Jacksonville, Fla., 3 and 2. Harper holed his second shot on the first green for an eagle and a win. Later he sank a long putt on the eleventh to give his side a decisive two up lead at that point.

The defending champion team of Sam Snead, Hot Springs, Va., and Wilford Wehrle, Racine, Wis., had to come from behind to stay in the running. Ted Hugu, professional from Cleveland, Ohio, sunk a putt from the edge of the green to put his side in front, but Wehrle squandered the match with a birdie on the fourth and Snead carded a birdie two on the fifth to take the lead. The final count was a two and one decision over the Hugu-Robert White combine.

Yale Baseball Coach Let Out In Economy Move

"Smoky Joe" Wood, Ex-Pitching Star of Majors, Served Two Decades

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 19 (AP)—"Smoky Joe" Wood, one-time big league pitching ace who tutored Eli baseball teams for two decades, got his dismissal notice from Yale today, victim of a wartime economy move that simultaneously eliminated two other coaching positions.

Athletic Director Ogden D. Miller announced that Wood, pitching star of the 1912 Boston Red Sox world champions and later an outfielder with the Cleveland Indians, was being let out as of June 30th, together with tennis coach Bill Hinchliff and golf coach Ben Thompson.

Hinchliff will retire on pension; the contracts of the other two were terminated without compensation.

Today's dismissal, following by a few days announcing of the pensioning of Yale's veteran athletic publicity director, Paul Barnett, were part of a retrenchment program begun by the Yale Athletic Association soon after war was declared. They came in the midst of a search by the university for a new football coach to succeed Emerson W. ("Spike") Nelson, who resigned after last year's disastrous season.

Miller said no successors to Wood, Hinchliff and Thompson would be named, with men now on Yale's athletic payroll taking over their duties. It was presumed that Jeff Sawyer, former Eli pitcher and now freshman coach, would take over the baseball program; that Jim McDermott, Thompson's assistant at the Yale links, would take over golf, and that the tennis assignment would go to Johnny Skillman, now varsity squash and freshmen tennis coach.

Wood received the announcement of his dismissal with a terse, "I have nothing to say; I have no plans." He came to Yale in 1922 as freshmen coach, after seven years with the Cleveland club to which he went after his pitching arm went bad in Boston.

Hinchliff has been with Yale for 28 years; Thompson, for 17 years.

Mrs. Page Enters Golfing Finals

PINEHURST, N. C., March 19 (AP)—Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill defeated Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, one up in 19 holes, today in the semi-final round of the Women's North and South Golf Tournament.

Louise Suggs of Lithia Springs, Ga., overwhelmed Jeanne Cline of Bloomington, Ill., 6 and 5, in the other semifinal match.

Mrs. Page and Miss Suggs will meet tomorrow in the final match.

FRANKIE JELINICH, outfielder, Chicago Cubs. Played first base for Utica in the Canadian-American league last year where he hit .318. Hit 16 homers for the Utica Braves. He's amateur weight-lifter. Right-handed batter, standing 6 feet 3 inches and weighing nearly 200 pounds. Lives at San Jose, Cal.

Named Ensign

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 19 (AP)—Charles Francis (Willie) Geny, former Vanderbilt basketball and football captain, was commissioned an ensign in the United States Naval Reserve yesterday to serve as an athletic instructor in the Bureau of Aeronautics.

Dodger Fans in Agony as Walker Is Left Behind in Florida Camp

Brooklyn Fans Vent Their Malice on Durocher with Letters and Wires

By JUDSON BAILEY

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 19 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers are baring around from town to town in Florida while Fred (Dixie) Walker remains in exile with the second stringers camp in Daytona Beach, and the agony of the fans back in Flabush is audible all the way down here.

Manager Leo Durocher is being bombarded by letters and telegrams accusing him of all degrees of malice toward the veteran who batted .308 in 1940 and .311 in 1941 for two shining seasons as one of the Dodgers' regular outfielders.

But all this furor is lost on Durocher, who by long practice has become able to out-shout all the fans who can pack themselves into Brooklyn's Fubets Field.

Durocher Is Admired

Today Durocher declared, "I'm still manager of this club in spite of what some of the fans may think and I'll keep right on picking my own lineup till Mr. MacPhail puts somebody in my place."

But I'll tell you about this Walker business. I like him like a brother, but I wouldn't give my own brother a place on the team unless he earned it and that goes for everybody on the club.

"Walker reported late at Havana and in my opinion he is not in condition. Besides that I know what Walker can do and I have some other players with me who I want to watch."

"Walker is over 21 years old and he knows how to get himself in shape. He doesn't need me around to tell him what to do. As a matter of fact he likes to bat whenever he feels like it, sit down when he feels like it, and go out and snag flies when he feels like it."

"That isn't the way I get a ball club into shape but if that's the way Walker thinks he can do best for himself, then he can go ahead."

"I may not like the way he wants to train but when the season opens there won't be any prejudice against him. These games down here don't mean a thing and I wouldn't be using several of my regulars right now if I had enough players here to give them a rest."

"But when the National League season opens I'll pick my strongest lineup irrespective of friendship or anything else. I'll even say that there is another fellow on this club who is a real good friend of mine, but won't be in there if he doesn't show something before the season opens."

Walker Is "People's Choice"

"I want to win that championship again and outside of that nothing else matters."

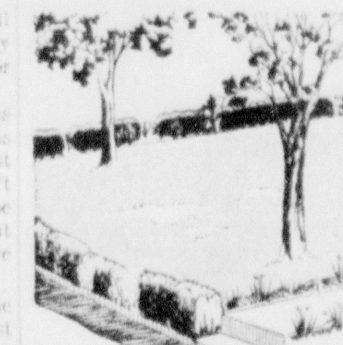

Walker, easy-going, drawling southerner, has been the people's "choice" in Brooklyn ever since he came from Detroit in 1939 and the fans have carried on a constant feud with the management for more than a year because President Larry MacPhail and Manager Durocher have not held him in the same high esteem.

Although Walker led the club in batting in 1940 he was shelved last spring and Paul Walter was plucked from the ranks of the unemployed to become Brooklyn's regular right-fielder. After half a dozen games, however, Walker was restored to the lineup and played every contest thereafter.

He will probably be in there again this season when the hue and cry subsides.

1 - Just a beginner
In April 1940, IMPERIAL was just getting started in one state—years after many whiskies were nationally famous. But it looked like a comer! Delicate, subtle flavor—wonderful smoothness—glorious aftertaste—this grand new blend had 'em all!

2 - It began to grow
Golly, how it grew! At first taste, folks took a shine to IMPERIAL. Soon it was even outselling long-established brands in city after city, from Boston to Battle Creek!

3 - And it grew—and grew!
Today, IMPERIAL is the fastest-growing whiskey in America! For instance, in Michigan, it took the lead from all the other 332 brands in just one year. And one taste will tell you why IMPERIAL is "goin' to town"—right here in town!

Great—for two big reasons!

- "Flavor-Peaked" Base Whiskies! This superb American blend has that expensive "imported-whiskey" flavor because its foundation whiskies are especially distilled to give them individual qualities—then blended together to a delicate "flavor peak."
- "Velveted" Spirits! Choice spirits actually made in the same stills as the rare base whiskies are then "velveted" by a method similar to the softening of spirits used in making fine Scotch.

Greg Rice May Crack Own Record Tonight

Unbeaten Track Star Holds Mark For Two-Mile Run

Gil Dodds Will Be On Hand To Furnish "Push" in Chicago Relays

CHICAGO, March 19 (AP)—Little Greg Rice, after flirting all season with his own record in the two-mile run, may reach his goal tomorrow night in the Chicago Relays.

The perpetual motion man of the running tracks, unbeaten in more than two years, set the present record for the distance—8 minutes 51.1 seconds—last year in the Chicago Relays. A crowd of 17,000 is expected to be in the Chicago Stadium to cheer him on.

Bill Mahoney, a teammate of Rice at Notre Dame and present coach of the Irish trackmen believes that Greg can pace off the distance in 8 minutes 45 seconds. But, Mahoney believes that the tireless little runner will need help if he is to achieve that mark.

"Someone will have to bring him up to the mile and a half fast enough and be able to 'kick' with him for this to come about," Mahoney says. "He can't do it alone, but he can do anything if extended."

On hand to push Rice, perhaps to the 8:45 performance that Mahoney envisions, will be Gil Dodds, the Boston divinity student, who has been running a close number two to Rice all season.

Throughout the eastern season it has been a Rice-Dodds finish in the event. In the Millrose Games, the time was 8:52.8; in the Boston A. A. Games, 8:53.4; in the New York A. C. 8:52.3. Rice ran the distance in 9:52 in the nights of Columbus Games in New York last week.

The Spotlight

hell-for-leather lay-on-McDuff type of baseball. I doubt that any other ball club in either league will tear in with what you might call Keener zest.

MacPhail says again his Dodger outfit has the best team spirit he ever saw on any ball field. Bredon and Southworth say the same thing about their younger Cardinals, who still think that horn-handed Pete had much more to do with their failure to win last summer than the Dodgers had.

"We almost took this bunch with half our ball club on hand the greater part of the year," one of their veterans said. "With even a normal part of our full line-up out of the hospital I think we'll have a fat surprise ready to shove their way, even before midseason."

In any event, their opening salvo here Thursday in the Citrus Round-up helps to give some angle on what may happen later on.

There is no great difference between the two teams at this spring spot. The Dodgers should have a slight margin at bat, but this will be more than offset by better all-around Cardinal pitching. Especially if Howard Pollet is around most of the summer.

National League teams soon will be a trifle nauseated looking at left-handers. Southworth has both brands—right and left—but his left-handers are loaded with a greater amount of poison. White and Pollet alone may be good for forty victories. And they are only two out of a carload.

I should say there are more "ifs" on the Dodgers side than on the Cardinal side. Southworth has better reserves than he had a year ago—a better balanced club with Sanders and Musial to help out.

It would be no shock to any expert or fan to see the two teams move side by side most of the year. Both carry too much stuff to have any outsiders—including the Reds with their brilliant pitching—rated with any star-tipped chance.

You can enter this in your ledger, however. As good as the Dodgers were last season—which was good enough to win a pennant—they will have to be at least 20 per cent better this time. For the Cardinals are almost sure to pick up at least 40 per cent better luck than they gathered on the dusty summer road in 1941—North American Newspaper Alliance.

Jimmie Foxx

He held out his share of times, and usually won out, as he had the records to back him.

Never Went Top-Hat. He never went top-hat. Everyone is his friend and he treats them all alike—like a gentleman. He is generous and thoughtful, and with his lifetime batting average of .332, covering eighteen years, and his 519 home runs, he is much more approachable than some rookie whose head is ignoring the rubber shortage because he is trying out in the majors.

It isn't that Jimmie has dissipated away his fat earnings. In a case like that you can't feel sorry for anybody. Not that we feel sorry for Jimmie. He wouldn't want that. But you can sympathize with him. He has lived cleanly, smiled through the tough years, years when injuries, operations, or his ever-fortifying sinus have had him in periodic misery.

Some might say Jimmie Foxx is

HOW THEY LOOK IN THE MAJORS

JACK SORDS SIZES UP THE BIG LEAGUE TEAMS

PITCHER BOB BOWMAN IS THE ONLY BIG LEAGUER PICKED UP BY THE CHICAGO CUBS SINCE LAST SEASON. HE SHOULD STRENGTHEN THE MOUND STAFF.

OUTFIELDER LOU NOVIKOFF, PREVIOUSLY TESTED, BUT FOUND WANTING, IS EXPECTED TO REACH STARDOM THIS YEAR.

THIRDBASMAN STANLEY HACK, THE ONLY .300 HITTER THE CUBS COULD BOAST OF IN 1941, MAKES THE CHICAGO infield.

By WALTER L. JOHNS

NEW YORK, March 19 (Central Press)—Once again the Chicago Cubs, attempting to strengthen their team for a first division fight, pin their hopes on a flock of rookies including a group of youngsters who have been up before and who never could quite make the grade.

With a weak pitching staff and only one .300 hitter among the regulars, the Cubs finished in sixth place last year, the lowest the club has dropped since 1925, when the Windy City team wound up the season in eighth position.

The Cubs, back on the mainland after their stay on Santa Catalina island, probably will open the season with only one rookie in the starting lineup, according to Manager Jimmy Wilson's announced line-too quiet to be a manager, but that's a lot of horse radish. They said that about Mel Ott, and our guess is Mel will do okay. And if a fellow doesn't learn something in eighteen years of active play, well, it just isn't worth learning.

Here's a hearty second to Leroy Atkinson's Foxx-for-Manager nomination.

up of regulars for the training games en route east, but several minor leaguers will be carried on the roster.

Novikoff Back

Included in the group of previously-tested hopefuls are Lou Novikoff, the minor league batting sensation of 1940, who came up to the Cubs with volumes of publicity last season and then spent the rest of the year with Milwaukee, where he hit for a rousing .370; Glen Russell, third baseman who hit .313 for Tulsa after starting the 1941 season with the Cubs; Ed Waitkus, first baseman who also was transferred to the Tulsa club after breaking in as a Cub in 1941; Len Merullo, shortstop, with Los Angeles and Toronto last season, and Ken Raffenberg, left-handed pitcher who won ten games for St. Paul after appearing in ten games for the Cubs early last year.

Only major leaguer picked up since '41 is Pitcher Bob Bowman, who won six against nine losses for the Giants.

Already the Cubs have had setbacks. Billy Myers, the shortstop who spent some time with the Cubs last year and then was shipped to Milwaukee, has announced he'd rather stick to his fireman's job near Harrisburg, Pa. than play for the money the Cubs offered him.

Then Paul Erickson, big right-handed hurler counted on for much help by the Cubs this year, suffered a busted nose when he was hurt in the training camp. Shortly after, he sprained his ankle.

Two Jobs Open

Manager Jimmy Wilson has disclosed that, at the moment, two jobs are open—left field and shortstop. Bob Sturgeon, who played 129 games at short for the Cubs last year despite a weak .245 batting average, is being pressed by Lenny Merullo, who was with Los Angeles and Toronto last year.

In the outfield, Bill Nicholson and Charley Gilbert are said to have won two posts with the third spot a tossup between several others, including Phil Cavarretta, who played in 107 games last year; Dominic Dilesandro, the little gent with the big 1940 minor league batting mark, who played in 140 games last season; Frank Jelincich, from Ulta, Bernie Olsen, from Milwaukee; Novikoff, and Harry Lowrey, from Los Angeles.

At the moment, Lowrey, who weighs but 155 pounds, is being given the call for the vacant outfield job. The Los Angeles youth, who hit .311 in 164 games last season, has been belting the ball at a terrific pace in the training games.

Novikoff, who has proven he can hit minor league pitching with the best of all time may finally hit his stride in the majors and win an outfield job. In sixty-two games with the Cubs last season, he hit but .262, but then went on to Milwaukee and batted out a .370 mark.

Back Leading Hitter

"Pitching staff is headed by Claude Passeau, Vern Olsen, Bill Lee and Jake Moody, who carried most of the brunt of the mound work last season. Passeau, with a fourteen-fourteen record; Olsen, with a ten-eight mark, were the best of the pitchers.

Tot Pressnell and Vallie Eaves are others who saw action last year. Newcomers include Hiram Bithorn, who copped seventeen games for Hollywood; Jesse Flores, who won twelve for Los Angeles; Emil Kish, fourteen-game winner at Tulsa, and Johnny Schmitz, who won two for the Cubs late last season after coming in from Milwaukee.

Clyde McCullough is the No. 1 catcher, with Bob Scheffing in the No. 2 spot. Newcomers are Salvador Hernandez, who hit .257 for Tulsa last season, and Marv Felderman, from Nashville.

Babe Dahleren is the first baseman, with Waitkus a possibility; Lou Stringer covers the second sack and Stan Hack the only .300 hitter on the team last season, the third baseman Seymour Block, who hit .357 for Macon last year, was brought to camp as a second baseman.

War Does

third interest in a $500,000 hotel for $12,000 cash and turned it down. "My b'ness is boxing," were the exact words which stirred up the hysteria. "What I want with a headache from a hotel when I got headaches enough from boxing?"

But out in the back country, where you have to stand on tiptoe to see the angry flare of Miami against the sky, the follows there, back-scratching, gallus-snapping, "bacy boys, don't care too much for they have their own sport, and there's nothing that can happen in this war short of the Japs and the Hitler's coming in and rooting up the country that can interfere with it.

"The sport is called 'huntn' only it's a very special kind of hunting, unlike any other I've ever heard of. The sportsmen gather about twilight, each with his own hound, and moose on out to a swamp land. Nobody seems to be quite sure why it's a swamp land they go to, except there's a lot of that around, and it's a pleasant place to pass the night.

A fire is built to take the chill off the night. The dogs are told to go about their business, which is hunting, and the owners squat around the fire and pass a jug of drinking liquor from silent mouth, and wait for excitement to happen.

Even at the beginning, when there's no excitement, it's really quite a good sport to spectate at. There are the bearded trees to look at, rising like smoke to a sky that is creamy with moonlight. There are the swamp sounds to listen to, very heathenish sounds, really quite fleshy sounds, provocative of kinds of notions, mostly devilish, and there are the sounds of the dogs yipping and yapping and snuffing up scents for themselves.

The sportsmen always have large Adam's apples, the hat hanging kind, that dip and bob as they mouth the jug, and each watches and counts the dips and bobs to make sure the jug is not being swallowed whole. We've seen the half-time entertainments at the big Pacific coast football games where college students with cards make out very successfully that they're Walt Disney, but we think the half-time entertainment at these back country hunts is much more enlivening and makes the wait pass much too rapidly.

The excitement comes when the dogs strike a scent and give chase. Everybody knows the sound of all the dogs, and knows every inch of all the land about. They can tell by sound what kind of trail has been struck, which dog has found it, which dog is leading the pack.

what kind of country the animal is fleeing through and how good are his chances of escape. They can tell when a trail has been lost and which dog found it again and whether it's the same trail that has been found or the trail of yet another animal. The sounds give them the story of the animal's doubling and back-trackings and the dogs' confusion and wisdom.

The men squat silently and listen and bet. They bet more ways than an across-the-board plunger up against a two horse race. And when daylight comes, they moose back home, jugs empty and hearts full of whatever morale it is that sport is calculated to produce in a warring nation.

This sport cannot be dismissed too lightly. It blocks up no roads. It attracts no crowds, wastes no gasoline or rubber and not even leather, for the ground is generally soft enough to squish over pleasantly in bare feet. It's a night game, but it uses no electric light, so it's safe from the power priority people. It uses no guns or bullets.

And, most important it combines the best features of such country club sports as tennis and golf, (see the nineteenth hole) and such improvement-of-the-breed as horse racing, dog racing, basketball, hockey (see the bookmaker) plus the best features of the competitive sports from boxing all the way down (sheer, heart-pounding excitement.) Yes sir, pals, one vote for "huntn'" also called "huntn'."

MONTGOMERY WARD

I'm buying my Easter suit at Wards for as little as $4 a month!

IT'S STYLED BY BRANDON ... NO WONDER IT LOOKS GREAT, FITS FINE!

23<sup>50</sup>

Brandons have everything you want in your new Easter suit! All virgin wool fabrics—for longer wear and that expensive appearance. Careful tailoring—to make them fit properly. Smart styling—to give you that "well-dressed" look. And they come in all the newest patterns: color stripes, diagonals, plaids, hairlines.

BUY O.K. TIME! $4 A MONTH! Usual down payment and carrying charge.

WE WON THE OPENING BASEBALL GAME OF THE SEASON, MUGGS! IT'S TOO BAD YOU MISSED IT!

GOOD! HOW WAS EFFIE'S PITCHING?

AWFUL! HER CONTROL WAS WAY OFF! SHE COULDN'T PUT ONE BALL THAT CLOSE TO THE PLATE!

THEN HOW COME YOU WON?

HER SPEED SAVED THE DAY!!

BUT WHAT GOOD WAS SPEED, IF SHE COULDN'T GET THE BALL OVER THE PLATE?

WELL—SHE BEATED ALL THE PLAYERS ON THE OTHER TEAM AND THEY HAD TO QUIT, SO WE WON BY FORFEIT!!

Green Replies To Stakem on School Funds

Democratic Commissioner Knew of Deposit Plan, Board Head Says

Taking issue with published statements attributed to Patrick J. Stakem, lone Democratic member of the board of county commissioners, concerning the impounding of $800,000 in unusable school construction funds at one per cent interest.

Simon W. Green, president of the board, last night issued a formal statement giving the background of the transaction.

The money represents the proceeds of a bond issue for construction of new schools at Mt. Savage, Lonshearing and Ellerslie, floated by the county commissioners in accordance with a mandatory act of the 1941 legislature. Since the sale of the bonds last summer, the War Production Board has refused to grant a project rating for the construction work on the ground that the new buildings are not essential to public health and safety, and the funds have been "frozen" in a bank account, drawing no interest.

One Per Cent Interest

Recently, the money was transferred to a special joint account with the board of education under a certificate of deposit from the Second National Bank, renewable at six-month intervals, an arrangement which provides for payment of interest of one per cent annually.

Replying to Commissioner Stakem's opposition to the arrangement and his statement that the action was taken without board authority or his knowledge, Green began by declaring that the question of how to do with the funds had been "under discussion by the board of county commissioners for several months after being notified by School Superintendent Charles L. Kopp that the board of education was unable to proceed with the program of construction for which the money was borrowed."

Walter C. Capper, attorney to the commissioners, "was authorized to consult the board of education in reference to this matter," Green went on, "and after he did so, he advised holding the money until the board of education demanded it."

"About two or three weeks ago, Walter Johnston, county auditor, appeared before the board with the suggestion to deposit this money in a joint account of the board of education and county commissioners in order that the money could be withdrawn without the consent of both parties."

Explained to Stakem

"This was agreeable with the commissioners."

"On Friday, March 13, at the regular board meeting, the auditor, along with other routine bills, presented an order calling for the issuance of a check to the joint account mentioned above."

"When the order came before the commissioners, Mr. Stakem handed it to me and asked what it was for. I explained it to him and told him it was to be deposited in the Second National Bank in a joint account, as drawn, in order to remove it from our general fund account before the annual levy."

"After the check was drawn and signed by the clerk, the treasurer and myself, Frederick C. Dreyer, the treasurer, advised that the money would be deposited in the Second National Bank at interest of one per cent and after figuring the interest, informed us we would receive $8,000 per year."

No Objection

"Dreyer asked permission to make the deposit, which was granted."

New Men's Store To Open Tomorrow

Conlon Will Cut Ribbon at 9:30 a. m.; Joseph H. Love Is Manager

Mayor-elect Thomas F. Conlon will cut the ribbon at the official opening ceremonies of the Cumberland branch store of the National Shirt Shops, northwest corner of Baltimore and Liberty streets, tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by Seymour E. Goodman, of Newark, N. J., vice-president of the eastern district of the coast-to-coast men's furnishing firm, who is here assisting in making preparations for the opening event.

Joseph H. Love, of Long Island, has been promoted from the Newark, N. J., store as manager of the new store here, which incidentally is the first in the State of Maryland and the eighty-seventh from coast-to-coast.

John C. Metzger and James R. Smith, both of Cumberland, are also members of the new store's sales staff.

The National Shirt Shops are among the largest distributors of men's furnishings in the United States. The local store will carry a complete line of men's furnishings—everything but suits and shoes. Hosiery, ties, sports wear, shirts, underwear and robes are included among the merchandise displayed in the attractive show windows of the new store which occupies the Fort Cumberland hotel corner.

Gasoline Dealers Will Meet Tonight

Plans for Compliance with Federal Closing Rule To Be Made

Discussion of means of compliance with the new federal seventy-two hour, six-day week regulation for retail gasoline dealers will take place tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the Fort Cumberland hotel with dealers of Allegany county attending.

The order along with another cutting deliveries to retailers by twenty per cent became effective yesterday. The steps were taken by the federal government because of the large number of tanker sinkings and the inability to transport gasoline for ordinary consumption to the Eastern seaboard in normal quantities.

The seventy-two-hour week means dealers may remain open twelve hours on each of six days. Some dealers have proposed all stations closed on Sundays while others suggest the closing days be staggered so that some stations are always open. Likewise dealers hope to agree on a program for service at night.

In a letter to Walter L. Weires, Baltimore avenue station operator, Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, today asked the dealers to get together and agree on a program as the city has no desire to interfere but he warns that "if not done the city will have no choice but will be compelled to enact a compliance law," which the attorney says may not be as satisfactory to the dealers as a voluntary agreement.

In addition to the orders becoming effective today, starting Monday the price of gasoline will be fixed at the levels of last Friday.

Under the twenty per cent reduction in delivery program supplying companies are required to make deliveries to stations on a basis of not more than one-third of a month's quota during the first ten days, and not more than two-thirds during the first twenty days. This is designed to prevent stations from selling without restrictions and running out of supplies within a few days.

Telephone Company Employees Honored

Three-star emblems, in recognition of fifteen years of service with the company have been awarded O. T. Nash, an employee in the Cumberland office of the Potomac Telephone Company and Margaret M. McGinn, of the Frostburg office.

PROBATIONERS RECEIVE CAPS—Yesterday marked the end of the probationary period for thirteen student nurses at Allegany hospital when they received their nursing caps. The probationers began their training last October and will continue training at the local hospital for another two-and-a-half years. They are (left to right) front row, Miss Elizabeth Yommer, Grantsville; Miss Dimple Abe, Fort Ashby, W. Va.; Miss Dorothy Gardner, Bedford, Pa.; Second row, Miss Helen Koroly, Nemaquin, Pa.; Miss Dorothy Wolfe, Ridgeley, W. Va.; Miss Aileen Michael, Brunswick; and Miss Anna Eberly, Frostburg. Third row, Miss Mary Grassi, Cumberland; Miss Thelma Brown, Greenspring, W. Va.; Miss Juanita Rader, Cumberland; Miss Lois Landers, Hancock; and Miss Ann Fleckenstein. Miss Rita Dahl, thirteenth member of the class was not present when the picture was taken.

Williams, and Adelaide McKinley, Belle Vernon, Pa.; Howard Taylor Swisher and Thelma Lavada Howser, Cumberland; Marie Sylvester Ripple and Wilma Ermatrudie Marie Neatour, Johnstown, Pa.; John Reginald Coleman and Nora Lurienne China, Oliver No. 1, Pa.; Needom Izzer Jones and Ethel Mae Weiss, Johnstown, Pa.; John Herman Drechsel and Grace Lancaster, Pittsburgh, Pa.

20 Teachers Join U. S. Armed Forces In Nine Months

Edward Finzel Is Latest To Report; 68 Leave County since Last June

One principal and nineteen teachers have joined the armed forces of the United States since June, 1941. It was announced yesterday by Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools.

The latest instructor to answer the call is Edward Finzel, of Beall high school, Frostburg, who took a physical examination yesterday in Pittsburgh and is expected to report next week in Annapolis.

Allegany high school heads the list with seven, namely, John Comer, Alfred Herbst, Paul Horn, George Myers, Cecil Parsons, Ralph Pasley and Richard Stakem.

Port Hill lists five—Rex Bradley, Leon Dissinger, Herbert Little, Kenneth Mowen and Howard Thomas. Beall also has five in the service, namely, Louis Connor, John Delaney, Owen Fahling, S. Lua Sykes and Edward Finzel.

Major John W. Fisher, principal, Charles Carney and David O. Taxis are the former Bruce high school faculty members now in the service.

Kopp said that sixty-eight teachers have either joined the armed services, taken over jobs in defense industries or transferred to other teaching jobs outside of Allegany county since last June.

Caps Are Awarded 13 Probationary Nurses Here

Six-Months Training Period Completed by Class at Allegany

Thirteen probationary nurses completed their first six months of training and were awarded their caps at Allegany hospital yesterday afternoon.

The students all of whom entered training in the hospital last October 1 have now been accepted and will continue their studies for another two-and-a-half years.

Receive Caps in Chapel

The presentation ceremonies were conducted in the hospital chapel with Sister Celeste, superintendent of the hospital, presenting the caps. Following the presentation ceremony the probationary students were given candles which members of the senior class lighted, signifying the passing on of the spirit of the nursing profession.

The Rev. Thomas A. Hardesty, assistant pastor at St. Patrick's Catholic church addressed the student nurses and emphasized the necessity of working with the heart as well as the hands and the head.

Probationary nurses receiving their caps were:

Miss Dimple Abe, Fort Ashby; Miss Elizabeth Yommer, Grantsville; Miss Dorothy Wolfe, Ridgeley, W. Va.; Miss Thelma Brown, Greenspring, W. Va.; Miss Rita Dahl, Meyersdale, Pa.; Miss Ann Fleckenstein, Cumberland; Miss Dorothy Gardner, Bedford, Pa.; Miss Helen Koroly, Cumberland; Miss Aileen Michael, Brunswick; Miss Lois Landers, Hancock; Miss Juanita Rader, Cumberland; Miss Anna Eberly, Frostburg and Miss Helen Koroly, Nemaquin, Pa.

Guests at Dinner

Following the presentation ceremonies a dinner was served in the hospital dining room for the student nurses.

Replacing the thirteen probationary students are five new students who were admitted March 1. Their course will be given by Miss Mary McNamee, R. N., Mt. Savage. Miss McNamee is a graduate of St. Mary's hospital, St. Louis, Mo. She is replacing Mrs. Catherine Stumb, who resigned.

Five Drivers Tried For Violations of State Motor Laws

Five drivers were tried yesterday in trial magistrates court for violations of state motor laws with three being fined and two receiving suspended fines.

Glenn S. Spellman, 17, Fifth street, and Ralph G. Davis, 229 Mary street, were fined $10 and costs for driving without a license. Marvin Clay Edwards, of Frostburg, was fined $5 and costs for reckless driving. He was arrested on Route 40 by Trooper M. Frank Beamer.

William R. Eyles, RFD No. 1, received a suspended fine of $5 and costs on a charge of failing to give a hand signal when turning his car in LaVale. He was arrested by Trooper Beamer.

William J. Kelly, 213 Magruder street, received a suspended fine for passing a car when the way ahead was not clear of traffic. He was arrested by Sgt. John H. Doud on Route 220.

Three Men Join Navy

One man was sent to the examination station in Baltimore yesterday by the local navy recruiting office while two others will leave this morning.

Robert R. Kuykendall, of Keyser, W. Va., left yesterday and Lewis D. Hacker, Ridgeley, W. Va., and Joseph Laupert, of Westernport, leave this morning.

Congratulatory Messages Pour In To Mayor-elect

Governor and Attorney General Are among Conlon's Well Wishers

Congratulatory telegrams and letters from persons in all walks of life were received Wednesday and Thursday by Thomas F. Conlon who was elected mayor of the City of Cumberland at Tuesday's biennial municipal contest, and will take over his new duties as chief executive on Monday, April 6.

Governor Sends Wire

Gov. Herbert R. O'Connor wired:

"Heartiest congratulations to you and Cumberland on the election of a mayor who will give Cumberland administration of which it will be proud."

Attorney General William C. Walsh said:

"Heartiest congratulations and best wishes for a very successful administration."

Other congratulatory messages were received from Brig. Gen. Dwight H. Mohr, of the Maryland State Guard; Thomas E. Conlon, tax agent for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates; Peter Gilmore, of Washington, manager of the Bankers Life Company; John B. Gontum, state insurance commissioner; Theodore F. Shaffer, of Chevy Chase, former city tax collector and now with the Bituminous Coal Commission.

John J. Meyers, deputy fire marshal of the state insurance department; P. A. DeHoff, of the Western Maryland Railway Purchasing Department; the Rev. Father John A. Mountain, Baltimore, formerly of St. Patrick's church; Sam W. Widmer, past state vice-commander of the West Virginia American Legion; Dick Manning, chairman of the Maryland Veterans' Commission.

Many Well Wishers

Among the Allegany county well wishers were Sisters and pupils of SS. Peter and Paul graded school, Magistrate Thomas E. Stakem, of Midland; the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, Paul E. Myers, manager of the McCrory store, W. T. McLuckie, president of the Queen City Dairy, Randolph Millholland, Patrick F. O'Rourke and family of Mt. Savage; Frank McDermott, former postmaster of Mt. Savage; Isaac Hirsch, father of the local commission form of government and Frank C. Ort, of Ort Brothers bakery.

Six Musicians Join Alumni Orchestra For Coming Season

The Cumberland Alumni Symphony orchestra held its first rehearsal under its new director, Jack Platt, at Fort Hill high school Wednesday night with six new members joining the organization.

The new players and their instruments are Jack Leichter and Harry Swartzwelder, horns; Edward Martin and Robert Youngblood, clarinets; Herman Schade, bassoon, and Robert Aspey, trombone.

There are vacancies in the string section, and competent players of any orchestral instrument will find this an ideal time to join the group, as rehearsals just got under way last night for the public concert that will be given early in May. The next rehearsal will be held March 25 at 7:30 p. m. in Fort Hill High.

Prospective members may contact Miss Inez Shoemaker, secretary, 816 Hill Top Drive, or at City Engineer's office, City Hall, or attend next Wednesday's rehearsal.

Eagles Will Name Class in Honor Of W. T. Rollins

Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will initiate a class Tuesday, March 31, following the regular meeting at 7:30 p. m., in the Eagles' home, North Mechanic street.

The class will be named in honor of William T. Rollins, worthy president of the local aerie.

Post Gains One Vote; Standing of Councilmen Unchanged

A canvass of the vote polled in the municipal election Tuesday, March 17, yesterday revealed that Thomas F. Conlon was elected mayor over Thomas S. Post by the margin of 318 votes.

The official totals were: Conlon, 1,413 and Post, 1,095.

Post Gains One Vote

Post gained a single vote over the total given him in the unofficial returns published yesterday morning.

While there were no changes in the final standing of the council candidates, there were a number of discrepancies in the unofficial returns.

Official returns revealed the following totals:

William J. Edwards, 4,912
James Ort, 4,570
Edgar H. Reynolds, 4,434
William E. McDonald, 3,903
Clifton E. Fuller, 3,710
Hunter B. Helfrich, 3,343
Thomas A. Darr, 2,309
Cecil C. Clark, 1,486

Lawrence A. Hewitt, clerk to the board of election supervisors, which conducted the canvass, said that McDonald gained five votes in the final check-up, Helfrich lost ten votes, Darr dropped fifteen and Clark lost fifty votes.

The charter amendment defeated by 2,565 votes instead of 2,505 votes as shown in the unofficial returns. The final totals were: For, 1,408; Against, 3,973.

Bond Issue Gains Two

The water bond issue carried by 368 votes instead of 366 votes as previously tabulated. Official totals are: For, 2,763; Against, 2,395.

Members of the board participating in the canvass which was conducted at the court house were James E. Kenney, Westernport; Harold A. Powell, Stanley Hamilton and Hewitt.

Faith in God and Courage in Face Of Dark Outlook Urged by Speaker

Attorney Suggests Long-Range View of Today's Bad War News

Listing a knowledge and understanding of history, belief in moral and spiritual values and faith in God as essentials for courageous living, Thomas L. Richards last night called on members and guests of the Men's Bible class of Grace Methodist church to be of good cheer despite the dark outlook of present-day events.

In an address at the class's fifth annual father-and-son banquet, the attorney said that a proper perspective gained from a study of history would overcome the discouragement that many Americans feel today in the light of events abroad and at home.

Predicts Eventual Victory

This feeling of foreboding, he told nearly 150 men and youths, results from "too close a view." Urging that today's bad news be interpreted from a long-range standpoint, he reminded his audience that history teaches us that "the destiny of mankind is not decided by the events of three or four months," and he predicted eventual victory for the cause of the United Nations.

History should not be viewed as merely a collection of dates and events, Richards went on, but as a "magnificent story of human endeavor and adventure," recounting "the struggle of the human race onward and upward." Viewed in this light, he said, today's struggles are but a part of the epic battle of mankind against oppression.

Pointing out that history does repeat itself, the speaker suggested that the present era of despair is analogous to the end of the Dark Ages, dating approximately from the discovery of America by Columbus in 1492.

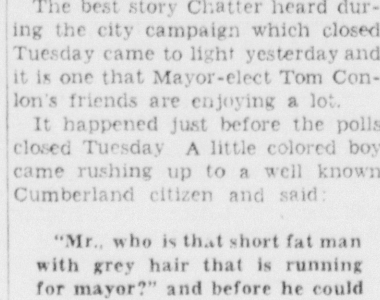

In those days, he recalled, the world was in a slough of despond.

Mayor Irvine Enters Memorial Hospital For Observation

Mayor Harry E. Irvine was admitted to Memorial hospital last evening at 7:30 o'clock for medical treatment and observation. Hospital attaches described the mayor's condition as fair and said he was resting comfortably.

The mayor spent eleven days in Memorial hospital in January, being admitted on January 10. Several X-rays were taken and he remained there for a rest. He was discharged January 21.

Safe-Way Chatter by News Staff Members

The best story Chatter heard during the city campaign which closed Tuesday came to light yesterday and it is one that Mayor-elect Tom Conlon's friends are enjoying a lot.

It happened just before the polls closed Tuesday. A little colored boy came rushing up to a well known Cumberland citizen and said:

"Mr., who is that short fat man with grey hair that is running for mayor?" and before he could be answered, the boy continued by saying "Can boys vote, cause if they can I can get a lot of votes for that man?"

The citizen, realizing at once who the boy meant but curious as to what he would say, replied, "I don't know just who you mean." Imagine his surprise when, quick as a flash, the boy said "Mr. you know who I mean, that man who OWNS all the parades."

So after all Tom maybe there is more than one way of campaigning. Now that Tom has been elected, a lot of folks are asking who will lead the parades in the future, as they say the mayor always rides in them.

Well, who knows, maybe Tom will just keep on leading them now after learning that even boys want to vote for the man "who OWNS all the parades."

You may or may not have learned that a breakdown of figures released recently by the War Production Board shows that nearly one-third of the 9,171 tons of scrap iron and steel idle in Maryland automobile graveyards was found in Baltimore City.

The survey shows that in Allegany county there are 630 old cars, which would make approximately 422 tons of scrap; Garrett 218 cars, 156 tons of scrap; Washington county 744 cars, 498 tons of scrap and Frederick county 381 cars, 225 tons of scrap.

According to Miss Margaret McPheters, nutrition specialist of the University of Maryland extension service, saving sugar is easy. Here's what she suggests:

Cut down on sugar in the least noticeable ways first.

Watch that undissolved sugar in the bottom of your coffee cup; maybe you've been oversweetening it.

See if you can't do with less sugar on cereal; a little dried fruit will help sweeten it.

Try eating fewer rich desserts.

When sweetening sauces, put in the sugar at the end of cooking; it takes less if sugar isn't cooked so long.

"And remember" she says, "most of us can get along on a lot less than we have been eating—and still have nutritious meals that taste good."

Chatter has not noticed any ads like this in the classified pages of the News yet but wouldn't be surprised to before long, but the following from the Seattle Times will show the trend in modern ads:

Action Is Sought On Completion Of Airport

Chamber of Commerce Directors Want Proper Agencies To Act Now

Concern over delay in completion of the Cumberland airport was manifested by chamber of commerce directors at their monthly meeting last night at its headquarters in the Liberty Trust building, and steps were taken toward prodding responsible authorities into action.

The Airport committee was asked to confer with the mayor and city council and to suggest that the city officials again take up the situation with the War department, the Civil Aeronautics Authority, the Works Progress Administration and related agencies in Washington.

Work at the air port was reported virtually at a standstill with respect to the completion of blacktopping the No. 1 runway and placing contracts for the No. 3 project, which involves the completion of the other runways. Bids have been received on the No. 1 runway topping but no contract has yet been awarded; while no bids have as yet been taken on the other project.

Repeated assurances have been given the Airport committee, as well as city officials, that the airport would be rushed to speedy completion but nothing has been done some time.

Six new members were added to the roster of the chamber on recommendation of the Membership committee, namely, the National Jet Company, the National Shirt Company, the George Street Cleaners, William H. Kight, funeral director; Dr. L. R. Meyers and the St. George Motor Company.

George L. Buchanan, Douglas R. Bowie and William Claus were appointed delegates to represent the chamber along with Henry W. Price, its national counselor, and the secretary, Harold W. Smith, at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, April 27-30 at Chicago.

Choral Society To Give Program On Palm Sunday

Miss Burrage To Be Soloist at Methodist Church Vesper Service

The Cumberland Choral Society of fifty voices will present a program of nine numbers at the Palm Sunday Vesper Service in Centre Street Methodist church, March 29 at 4 p. m., it was announced yesterday by Jack Platt, director.

Guest soloist on the occasion will be Miss Edith Burrage, soprano, and teacher of music at Bruce high school, Westernport, who will sing, "Alleluia," by Mozart.

Mrs. Robert Schieb, organist, will be accompanist.

The program as announced by Platt will include:

"Cherubim Song," "Blessed Jesu, Fount of Mercy," "Alleluia, Christ Is Risen," "Wondrous Things the Lord Hath Done," "How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place," "Unfold Ye Portals," "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today," "The Heavens Are Telling" and "The Hallelujah Chorus," from the "Messiah."

City Departments Expend $384,153

Eighty-seven and seven-tenths per cent of the annual appropriation for the running of the city departments had been expended on February 28, at the close of the eleventh month of the fiscal year, according to a financial report issued yesterday by the city auditor.

The amount appropriated at the start of the fiscal year was $438,001.17 and the amount expended was $384,153.79, leaving a balance of $53,847.38 for the month of March.

Eight accounts overdrawn include: Accident awards, $447.46; city hall, $261.82; city hall annex, $61.53; civil service commission, $21.25; Constitution park, $98.25; mosquito control, $132.86; parks, $619.34, and street cleaning, $1,264.60.

The sum of $35,944.34 remains uncollected out of the 1941-42 city tax levy of $325,900, according to the report. Ninety-three and two tenths per cent of the levy, or $489,955.66 has been collected, the report showed.

Savage River Dam Men Aid Red Cross

Employees at the Savage River dam have donated $110.23 to the Red Cross. Collected without outside solicitation, the money was turned over to John J. McMullen, chairman of the Upper Potomac River Commission, to be added to the $37,000 war relief fund raised by Allegany County Chapter.
